of the Hotunda Ward of Dublin, and Alderman Bernard Collery of this town were to-day officially nominated by the Parnellites and by the McCarthyltes, respectively, to succeed the late Mr. Peter McDonald as representative of North Silgo in Parliament.

The election excitement grows hourly, and popular feeling has assumed such proportions that the town officials have applied for extra protection in the shape of a detachment of cavalry. The officials do not deny that they expect that serious rioting will occur on Saturday or on Sunday next, perhaps on both days. Strong reinforcements of constabulary have already reached here, and further additions are expected.

HEALY WILL TAKE PART.

CORE, March 26.—Mr. Timothy Healy, in an interview with an Associated Press corre-spondent to-day said: "The moment I am able to travel I shall go to Sligo and take part in the electoral campaign now going on in the northern division of that county. I am now convinced that Mr. Michael O'Brien Dalton was instigated to assault me by per-sons more important than himself. He trav-eled in company with Mr. Parnell only a few me and was also at Sligo with Alderman Dillon, the Parnellite candidate in the North Division. I am convinced that the desire to disable me in order to prevent me from taking part in the Sligo election led to the outrage to which I was subjected."

Mr. John Morley was placed on the witness stand yesterday to testify in the case of Michael O'Brien Dalton and others who are Michael O'Brien Dalton and others who are charged with riotous conduct in trying to break into the court-house during the trial of Wm. O'Brien and John Dillon at Tipperary a few weeks ago. Mr. Moriey said the attack of the police on the crowd was a most uswarranted attack on the people. He said he was in the crowd at the time and saw that the court-house was comparatively empty. Many prominent and respectable people tried to get in, but the police refused to allow them to pass. This aroused the indignation of the crowd, who sympathized with Dillon, O'Brien and his friends, but the people remained crowd, who sympathised with Dillon, O'Brien and his friends, but the people remained quiet. A few had some words with the police, and Col. Codell considered it provocation enough to charge on the crowd with batons. The police dealt murderous blows, said Mr. Morley, and he saw Messrs. Harrison and eeting struck several times, though they ad nothing whatever to do with the crowd.

Mr. Alexander Blaine and several other

Mr. Alexander Blaine and several other Parnelites were going to Dunamore to attend a meeting of Parnell's supportors yesterday, when they were mobbed by a crowd of Nationalists. The horses' heads were turned around and the crowd drown the occupants hack over the road they can hooting and jeering them as they drove of FOR FOLITICAL REARONS.

LONDON, March 26.—Thomas O'Connor delivered a speech to his Liverpool constituents yesterday in which he said he did not oppose Parnell for personal, but for political reasons. He said nothing would dim Parnell's past, but it was to be deplored that he not was great enough to despise the petty struggle for the ugh to despise the petty struggle for the lership and descend to the ranks instead f rending the party and forever depriving of his gread services.

THE SACRED COLLEGE.

NEW CARDINALS TO BE CREATED AT THE COM-ING CONSISTORY.

ROME, March 26.—The recent death of several Cardinals having considerably thinned the ranks of the Sacred College, it is confidentially stated that in the Consistory to be held shortly after Easter the Pope will create the confidential that in the Consistory to be held shortly after Easter the Pope will create the Confidential Confidenti held shortly after Easter the Pope will create some five or six new Cardinals. There are eight vacancies in the Sacred College. Among the Candidates spoken of for the red hats are: Mgr. Rufus Scilla, Pontificial Major Domo Di Petro, Nuncio at Madrid; Archbishop Satolli, who represented the Pope at the Catholic Centennial Celebration held in Baltimore in November, 1898, and Mgr. Berelli, all Italians, and the Archbishop of Vienna and Mgr. Kopp, Bishop of Breslau, who are classed as foreign prelates. The Sacred College now numbers thirty-three Italian cardinals and twenty-nine cardinals of foreign nationalities. As the Pope has long purposed to proportion the Italian and foreign elements so that the numerical prominence will remain to the former, the coming creation of the five cardinals will certainly be Italians. The postponment of the confistory, which was to have been held some months ago, is declared chiefly due to the delay attending the nomination of several foreign bishops, among them that of Posen, which is still being treated for with the German Cabinet.

THE WAR IN CHILI.

STORT OF TWO AMERICANS JUST ARRIVED FROM VALPARAISO.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., March 26.—Alfred and Frederick Lee, two brothers arrived here yesterday from Valparaiso, chili, on the bark Guinevere. They were engaged in the hardware trade in Valparaiso, but the unsafe condition of affairs resulting from the war which is now in progress caused them to leave Valparaiso. They are the first residents of that city to arrive here since the outbreak of trouble. They state that the trouble has been brewing for some time and was principally caused by the efforts of Balmaceda to have one of his tools succeed him as President. When the Lee brothers left the inhabitants were expecting bombardment at any moment. The city was in an uproar and all business suspended. No one dared to express an opinion and men suspected of sympathy with the insurgents were thrown into prison by hundreds. Newspapers were watched and nothing against Balmaceda allowed to be published. Telegraph and cable lines were seized by the Government to prevent the facts leaking out. The Guinevere was the last sailing vessel to leave the harbor and then only got away by bribing, the naval officers.

CONVERTING HEBREWS.

CONVERTING HEBREWS.

BUSSIA OFFERS A REWARD TO ALL JEWS WHO BECOME CHRISTIANS. LONDON, March 26.—A dispatch from St. Petersburg tells of a new industry which is acquiring considerable development in Russia. It is that of conversion. It appears that the Russian Government, not being willing to trust only the theological arguments and penal laws, offers a reward to all Jews who become Christians. The consequence is that a number of Jews, deprived by the severe enforcement of the decrees against their race of the opportunity to make an honest living, have entered in the practice of being converted at regular intervals, and receiving each time the government bounty of 15 foubles. One Hebrew named Schwarzkopf, has been at last detected after seven different conversions in as many different localities. It happened that the Russian priest to whom he made known his desire for the seventh time for baptism and the libroubles, had been recently transferred from Elizabethgrad, where the convert had been recently baptized and rewarded only about two months before. Consequently Schwartskopf will undergo no more conversions for the present, as the police have him in hand. A number of similar instances have been reported, and as a result the religious authorities have been instructed not to pay the reward unless they have investigated the antecedents of the convert.

A BISMARCKIAN IDEA.

THE SCHEME HE UNFOLDED TO THE LATE PRINCE NAPOLEON.

PARIS, March 26.—The Figure to-day publishes a report sent to it by Marquis de Villenueve of an interview which that gentleman says took place between the late Prince Naon and Prince Bismarck in 1866. In it the german ex-Chancellor is represented to have proposed an offensive and defensive alliance between France and Prussia. The alliance was intended to be of so close a character as to place the two general powers party thereto in a position of commanding an almost mandator influence in the councils of European In a position of commanding an almost man-datory influence in the councils of Europe. It was a condition of the proposed entents that the Franco-German alliance thus formed should take up the task of driving the Slavs back to flieir native steppes. Prussia, by the agreement, was to be permitted to absorb the whole of Germany, while France should have a free hand slong the Rhipe and be expented. a free hand along the Rhine and be permitte to incorporate Beigium as a part of her em-pire. A LONG-WISHED-FOR LAW, Which Was Secured After a Long Delay From the Legislature.

Just at the close of the session of the Mis-souri Legislature a bill of considerable imsouri Legislature a bill of considerable importance to lawyers and litigants was passed, which escaped notice in the rush. It was one introduced by Mr. Henry S. Julian, a member of the Judiciary Committee from Kansas City, where he is a prominent member of the bar. Mr. Julian has, in his successful advocacy of this bill, earned the gratitude of his profession in passing a measure which the St. Louis Bar Association had vainly endeavored for fifteen years to have put on the deavored for fifteen years to have put on the books. When a writ is returned not served other writs may be issued until the defendant or defendants shall be summoned.

The effect of this bill will be to greatly expedite litigation, a blessing for which litigants as well as lawyers will be grateful to Mr. Julian.

An Exciting Encounter at a Disputed Crossing in Denver.

Denver, Colo., March 26.—One of the most exciting scenes ever witnessed in Denver occurred at Fifteenth and Champa streets yesterday when the Denver & Suburban road attempted to cross the Denver Tramway tracks. The latter company appeared in the field with an armed force of men, all their cars were crowded to the crossing and it was necessary to place fifty policemen on the corner to prevent bloodshed. The men fought and tumbled around in the mud, while fully $,000 people stood yelling and hooting at the tramway officers for endeavoring to obstruct the opposing company. The struggle lasted three hours.

Mr. Sanaya ways to have the bill dorsed by the Farmers' club of the House and Senate. Mr. Ramsay moved to have the bill read a first time, but Mr. Carmody objected. All of the other stock yards bills have been referred to the Committee on Corporations, but Mr. Ramsay asked to have this one referred to the Committee on Agriculture, of which Mr. Moore, the F. M. B. A. leader, is chairman. Strange to say the Democrats made the fight on this reference and the Republicans favored it. This is believed to be on account of Mr. Ramsay's fairitreatment of certain popular measures, in which he was admired popular measures, in which he was admired by the opposite side of the House. He won by the opposite side of the House. He won his point by a decisive roll call.

STATE LEGISLATION.

OUNTIES FOR MICHIGAN EX-SOLDIERS—OTHER GENERAL ASSEMBLIES. LANSING, Mich., March 26,—A good many lichigan soldiers received war bounties from the state. A good many others did not. Several legislatures have talked in a desuitory way about equalizing the thing and paying all the veterans morally entitled to bounties. It remained for the present Legislature however, to set about the matter in earnest A communication was recently sent to Atto ney-General Ellis asking if in hopinion the State could issue more bonds for the purpose of pa-ing bounties. The Attorney-General bonds for the purpose of paying bounties. The Attorney-General replies that the State can still issue bonds to the amount of $694,000, that amount of the total issue of bonds authorized in war times having never been issued, and in addition the State can devote to the payment of bounties the $500,000 which it will soon receive from the general government as its share of the direct tax levied during the war and now direct tax levied during the war and now about to be refunded. This course will prob-ably be adopted and over $1,000,000 be dis-tributed among the veterans who volunteered early in the war and received nothing from the State, while those enlisting in 1864 were

THE RAILWAY QUESTION IN TEXAS. AUSTIN, Tex., March 26.—The following Senators were yesterday appointed to act on the Free Conference Committee to settle the difference between the two Houses in regard to the railroad commission bill: Clark, Crawford, Crane, Simpkins and Tyler. Clark Crawford and Tyler form the Elective Com mission, the other two an appointive one.
Senator Potter introduced a bill providing for the erection of a laboratory and other buildings at the university, for a new gubernatorial mansion, and for improvements at the Agricultural and Mechanical College at Bryan, Tex. The bill appropriates the money to be received from the sugar bounty to these objects. Senator Finch's bill prohibiting persons who hold shares in corporations receiving a charter from the city from holding a city office was passed.

In the House consideration of the bill providing for the disposition of the public domain was resumed. After the adoption of several amendments the bill was defeated by a vote of 47to 41. The Senate bill regulating the voting at elections in cities of 10,000 inhabitants and over was passed. The Senate text book bill, after some amendments, was passed by a vote of $\tilde{\theta}$ to $1$. The Senate bill increasing the Commission of Appeals to six judges was passed. The Judiciary Committee's report sustaining the Governor's veto of the Beaumont charter bill was received.

KOCH'S LYMPH.

It May Prove a Specific for the Cure of Leprosy.

New York, March 26 .- Whatever may be aid of the disappointment felt by many promnent physicians that Koch's lymph has not fulfilled all the promises which were made for fulfilled all the promises which were made for it by its discoverers its usefulness is likely to be proved in a direction quite unexpected. Thus, while it may merely be another reme-dial agent in the treatment of tuberculosis in various grades, the indications are that it may reach the dignity of a specific of one of the most terrible diseases of the human race. Shortly after the first injections of the lymph were made here it was announced that Dr. J. Newton Helneman, the visiting physician of Mt. Sinai Hospital, was treating a private case of leprosy in the suburbs of New York. The patient was 30 years old. He has wealth, but owing to his afliction was kept a close inmate of a cottage which was occupied only by him and his nurse. This disease had been contracted while the young man was in Central America and had so far progressed that most efforts made by his attendants were to render the remainder of his life as comfortable as possible. When the injections were render the remainder of his life as comfortable as possible. When the injections were begun the patient bore little resemblance to a man. The flesh of the face, neck, nose and ears was so diseased that his head was quite twice its normal size. A little more than two months have elapsed since the first injection of the fluid was administered. The injections, always exceedingly small, have been continued at regular intervals, usually forty-eight hours. Lymph was used in connection with the extract of cocca as a tonic.

A RACE FOR LIFE.

The Experience of a Ship Chased by Waterspout.

New York, March 26.—The little Norwegian fruiter America came in from the West In-dies yesterday with a story of a race with a gigantic waterspout. The steamer was 100 miles off Hatteras on March 23, making her way North in a moderate sea over which hung low and heavy clouds. Suddenly from way North in a moderate sea over which hung low and heavy clouds. Suddenly from the northwest, the direction of the land, a great waterspout was seen approaching. The America was headed in the direction that would give the spout a wide berth, but it came down on the steamer so rapidly that the Captain put the vessel on a northwesterly course and signalled the engineer to crowd on all steam. It became a race between the water spout and the little steamer. The former was shaped like an hour glass. Its base was about thirty feet in diameter and it tapered up for seventy feet, where it became seemingly no more than a foot in thickness. Then it spread out again and its top was lost in the clouds. The water spout was revolving from right to left with great rapidity and roaring like a small Niagara. The signal cannon of the America was run out ready to fire at the approaching monster, but the steamer won the race and the spout passed is feet astern of the America. The commotion of the water caused by the spout as it whirled by the America left the vessel's stem completely out of water.

Mr. Judy, President of the Collinsville Gun Club captured Nicholas Lemons and Loraine Martin, both of East St. Louisf on Horseshoe Lake, yesterday killing ducks with swivel guns and took them to Collinsville, III. Inhuman Treatment of a Schoolboy in Connecticut-A Brute Threatened With Lynching - The Tow-Bass Feud Not Settled Yet-A Day's Record of Crim

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., March 26.—A letter from Rio Grande City says that Marcus Ortega, Deputy Sheriff of that county, has been known for years as one of the most desperately fearless officials upon a frontier where the ready finger on the trigger is essential to safety. He is dead now. On the night of March 24 he was called to repress a quarrel at a Mexican fandango in a quarter of the town known as Turco, the worst section of the town. Ortega entered the room and stood in the middle, the frightened senoritas crowded against the walls. Ortega laid his prowded against the walls. Ortega laid his and upon the aggressor, who was private atrick Hogan of Troop C, Third Cavalry, J. S. A. Hogan shot him in the abdomen. U. S. A. Hogan shot him in the abdomen. Ortega attempted to shoot, but his pistol hung fire and Hogan shot him again. Ortega jumped upon his man but the soldler fied to the barracks, where he was arrested. Ortega died in a little while cursing his faulty weapon to the last. He was a member of a powerful political club to which many of his relatives the believes of the many of his relatives. also belonged. The members met, discussed the manner of his taking off and then fully armed proceeded to the house where his body was laid out. Word ran through the barracks that an attempt to lynch Hogan was to be inaugurated and the cavairy formed a line to bar the way. The officers could do but little with the men, who asserted that they would slaughter every Mexican in the country before permitting the murder of their comrade. The hostiles faced each other and a pitched battle seemed inevitable. An old and popular Mexican, however, by an eloquent appeal prevented a conflict. He spoke alternately in Spanish and English and exhorted them to let the law take its course and alternately in Spanish and English and ex-horted them to let the law take its course and in the end both citizens and soldiers quietly dispersed. It is not thought that Hogan can get out of the country alive. If acquitted by the courts some one of Ortega's relatives will kill him the moment he is set at liberty.

THE TOW-Bass FEUD.

MITCHELL, Ind., March 26.—The Tow-Bass feud which has been going on here for so long is not yet settled. A couple of days ago Bass and Tow met and fifteen shots were exchanged. Bass was put under $500 bond to appear for trial. Tow proposed that they both be put under $10,000 bond to let each other alone but Bass would not agree. Bass was not in town to-day and things were very quiet.

Then he returned home and deliberately chocked his wife to death. He was captured twice and escaped. He is now, however, in jail and the neighborhood is talking of hanging him out of hand.

BRIEF NOTES OF CRIMINAL EVENTS.

J. G. Tuggle and K. N. Glover of Homer, La., were waylaid and assassinated on their way home. No clew to the assassina has been found.

A wealthy gentleman named Cole was held up in the Cherokee Strip and separated from $8,500 of his money.

The execution of Webster Jackson, which was to have taken place at Hermann, Mo., on March 27, has been put off until April 26, the people objecting to an execution on Good Friday.

Lambert M. Goldsmith, who shot and killed R. T. Skillman at Columbus, Ind., was yesterday admitted to ball in the sum of $15,000.

Wm. Price, negro, was tried in the Criminal Court at Marshall, Mo., for criminal assault upon Miss Alice Ninas. Some time after the crime the girl committed suicide rather than testify in such a case.

Walter Fedore, an orphan boy living with Peter McMahon at Macon City, Io., died under peculiar circumstances, and an investigation was held. It was found that he had been beaten and clubbed until there was not a sound spot on his body.

THE MYSTERY SURROUNDING LAURA FITTS DEATH CLEARED AWAY.

Mary Becker's Story of What She Saw at Midwife Hotson's.

LAURA CAME THERE AT NIGHT, ACCOM-PANIED BY GEORGE DASHMAN.

The Young Woman Who Occupied a Room Adjoining the Vietim of Malpractice Tells a Story to the Police Full of Horrible Details-The Preliminary Hearing Begun To-Day.

The most important development that has ret occurred in the case of Laura Fitts was disclosed to-day. The police, who have worked unremittingly on the crime, have obtained evidence that will undoubtedly result in the holding of Mrs. Lizzle Hotson, the midwife, and George Dashman for trial for the ng of the unfortunate girl. Were it not or the efforts of the Post-Dispatch in keepeen dropped and the people who were concerned in the death of Laura Fitts would have escaped unpunished. A witness of the greatest importance has been found by the police and will be used in the trial. Her name is Mary Becker and she was confined at Mrs. Hotson's house at the time Laura Fitts died from the effects time Laura Fitts died from the effects of a criminal operation. This girl in her statement declares that Mrs. Hotson informed her several days previous that a girl named Laura Fitts was to be brought to the house to be operated on. The evening of Jan. 28, between 7 and 8 o'clock, the Becker girl declares that Laura Fitts came there in company with Dashman. That night she heard the Fitts girl moaning with pain, she states, and next day, according to her story, Mrs. Hotson told her that she had treated Laura and had taken her home that morning—the morning of Jan. 29—being introduced to Laura's mother as Mrs. Jennings. The Becker girl declares that she did not discusse these facts before because she was told she would be arrested and punished if she did.

Mary Becker, the young woman on whose statement the State depends so much to secure a conviction, came to this city about five months ago from her home in a small Illinois town near St. Louis and having heard of Mrs. Hotson went to her house, at 2305 Market street, thinking she could shide her time there in quiet. the rapidity with which he has got rid of a fortune. He is 28 years of age and said that he was born of Greek parents in Egypt where his father was an engineer on the Lucy Canal. His father died, leaving a large fortune. The young man was educated at Eaton, and studied medicine at the University of Edinburg. In 1888, on the death of his mother, Dadoro inherited a fortune of $2,000,000, which he went to work to squander, succeeding so thoroughly that he came here on the steerage of the Aurania, and is ready to do any work to put bread in his mouth, and has said he would not even reject an offer of a position as dish washer in a restaurant.

When Dadoro came into his fortune he bought a yacht and also began to frequent the races. His yacht cost him $2,800 a month and among his losses on the track were $90,000 on one race and $90,000 on another. Not satisfied with this, he began to speculate in cottom. Dadoro speaks seven languages and is of good address.

The story of Dadoro reminds one of the career of "Jubilee F. Juggins," who plunged heavily on the turf, ran through a fortune of $1,200,000 in two years and was finally arrested at Monte Carlo for forgery. All Dadoro's wealth seems to have vanished down to the last cent. His clothes are shabby and his villa in Egypt and his luxurious yacht are exchanged for the Cornish Arms, an immigrant boarding-house here.

[The details of the testimony cannot be published. In her statement the girl says positively that Laura Fitts was brought to Mrs. Hotson's house by Dashman. She furthermore testified to Mrs. Hotson's various admissions as to what she had done. The authorities are jealously guarding the interests of the important witnesses in the action. To-day, for the first time in the history of any Court of Criminal Correction hearing, a dinner was served in the office of Chief of Detectives Desmond. Those partaking were Mary Becker and two lady relatives who have her in charge, Mrs. Hurst of Chestnut street, and a young lady friend. THE PRELIMINARY HEARING.

THE COURT OF CRIMINAL CORRECTION CROWDEN The Fitts case opened in the Court of Crimnal Correction shortly before 11 o'clock this morning with every indication of materia being made, Mr. and Mrs. Fitts he parents of dead Laura Fitts, were on hand in the witnesses' room, having been among the first to arrive. Mrs. Fitts was still dressed in deep mourning, and her face plainly showed traces of the sickness and suffering she has passed through during the last three weeks. Both the father and the mother of the dead girl, into the mystery of whose death the legal enquiry was about to begin its investigation, were silent, and kept themselve secluded as much as possible from the public friends at whose home they are now stopping. The two defendants, George W. Dashman and Midwife Louise Rotson, whose Dashman and Midwife Louise Hotson, whose preliminary hearing on the charge of having caused the death of Laura Fitts by means of a criminal operation furnished the reason for the legal proceedings to-day, were not wisible at the opening of court. Lawyers John I. Martin and John W. Riddle, representing respectively George W. Dashman and Mr. and Mrs. Fitts, were the first of the legal sextette ampleyed in the case to appear. loyed in the case to appear.

THE COURT-ROOM CROWDED.

The COURT-ROOM CROWDED.

The court-room was packed long before the hour set for the opening of the case. There was a stilligreater proportion of women. In the crowd of spectators even than on the first day of the hearing, and their endeavor to get well to the front of the court-room gave the deputies an active and trying lesson in the art of ushering, and kept the room in a commotion during the entire opening of the case. Prominent in the front row was the face of Miss Annie Newfront row was the face of Miss Annie Newfront row was the face of Miss Annie New-land, the neighboring Market street midwife of Mrs. "Lou" Hotson's, and the one whose original story caused suspicion to fall first on Hotson and Dashman. Charles F. Vail was also one of the spectators, and his ap-pearance in that role instead of his famous one as the central figure of a more celebrated criminal case, excited much comment and made him a generally ob-served figure. He finally retired into the Prosecuting Attorney's office.

Prosecuting Attorney's office.
At 10:18 o'clock George W. Dashman appeared and struggling down through the main aisle passed the railing and took his seat in the jury-box, resting his head against the jury-box, resting his head against the much more master of himself than during the stirring and sensational scenesimarking the opening of the case. Marshall McDonaid was the next figure in the case to put in an appearance and he was followed closely by

Gov. Chas. P. Johnson.
"Call case No. 17, Mr. Sheriff," said Judge

Claiborne at 10:45 o'clock, and the call echoed through the crowded court-room.

'Witnesses in the case of the State against George W. Dashman and Mrs. Louise Hotson will please answer to their names when Exactly at this moment Midwife "Lon" Hotson entered the court-room and made her way with unobtrusive haste into the witness-room at the side. The famous 'May Jennings,' now the leading figure in the Laura nings," now the leading figure in the Laura Fitts case, was quietly attired in a dark street dress, wearing a modest hat and car-rying a mackintosh on her arm. So speedily did she pass down the side asise that almost before the crowd of spectators could crane their necks to get a good look at her the pretty midwife had disappeared from their view, but her arrival seemed to be accepted as the sure sign that the case was to come to a hearing at last.

"DEFENDANTS COME FORWARD!"
"Lizzie Hotson and George Dashman come forward!" cried the clerk, and a sudden silence fell on the scene.

The next moment Midwife Hotson stepped out before the great throng. She was accompanied by her sister-in-law, the young "Miss Hotson" whose cool testimony at the police, investigation following the Coroner's inquest did so much to shield the suspected midwife at that time. The girl sat just behind Mrs. Hotson, and Attorney McDonald sat at the midwife's right hand. Donald sat at the midwife's right hand.
George W. Dashman took his seat at Mrs.
Hotson's left, the two being directly in front of Judge Claiborne. They were both cooland self-possessed, but no sign of recognition passed between them. Dashman entered at

The witnesses in the case were then ordered to come forward, and a swarm of them passed through the rail. The defense stated that they were not responsible for the army of witnesses summoned in the case.

"What witness do you want first, Gov. Johnson?" asked the Court.

"Dr. F. V. L. Brokaw, your Honor," was the reply, and that physician was put on the stand, the other witnesses being taken out of the court-room into the witness-room, and the doors between the two being closed,

"She stated that she had cought cold one evening leaving church, and it had brought about a certain derangement which required treatment."

"What date was it upon which you first went to her house?"

"It was on Thursday, Jan. 27. I was sent for because she had become worse, although I was told that the functional derangement from which she was suffering had nearly passed away. She told me that herself, being given so far, '' said the Court. "Your Honor will see their object later in the hearing," responded McDonald ominously.

Witness then described how he was called in to see Laura Fitz on Thursday, Jan. 29.

"I found her suffering intense agony. I was convinced that I had not been told the true facts in the case. I then declined to treat the case unless! was allowed to perform an operation which I considered necessary. The girl grew worse, and on Saturday the operation was performed. My son, Dr. A. V. L. Brokaw, was present, and he attended her afterward. The operation resulted in the discovery of peritonitis, and of a large wound which I consider was the result of malpractice. A child had been removed from the womb. The girl died, I believe, on Monday morning following the operation of Saturday night."

"Doctor," said Lawyer McDonald, "please go over all the details of the discovery made through this operation."

"What did those symptoms indicate to "That she was suffering from peritonitis."
"Did you not suspect that the peritonitis caused by malpractice,?"

"I did not."

Did not the girl's objecting to your making an examination arouse your suspicions?"

"No, sir, such objections are frequently encountered. I attributed it to modesty."

"When you called your son into the case did he change your treatment or prescribe at all for the patient?"
'That I cannot say."

"That I cannot say."

Here the witness was closely pressed as to why he did not follow up certain discoveries made by his partial examination of the patient at the third visit, and why the speculum had not been used to verify certain suspicions aroused by that examination. The evidence was strictly professional, and was of a nature that proved somewhat trying to the large feminine proportion of the audience. It was carried through unfinchingly, however, by Mr. McDonald, with the result of finally eliciting a statement to the effect that the examination resulted in the discovery of a septic condition existing.

THE CLOTHING CUTTERS' STRIKE AS-SUMING A SERIOUS PHASE.

Disatrous Results of the Rochester Lockout-Manufacturers Will Attempt to Resume on Monday Next-The Granite

ROCHESTER, N. Y., March 26 .- The results of he lockout of the clothing cutters of this city suming a serious phase among the thousands of employes who are dependent upon the clothing industry for employment and support. The manufacture of clothing in this ity has grown to an annual output of nearly $11,000,000, and has become one of the principal industries of the city. More than 20,000 persons are dependent upon these manufacturers for their living, and already several cases of destitution are reported. Nearly all the members of the Clothing Cutters' Exchange are anticipating the effect of the recent trouble by closing or preparing to close their manufacturing departments for lack of work to give out. A member stated that the manufacturers are not striking a blow at organized labor, as has been claimed, but are only discriminating against the organization that has injured them. He said:

against the organization that has injured them. Hosaid:

"We are taking a position similar to that assumed recently by the Central-Hudson railroad and also by the shoe manufacturers of this city. Nearly 25 per cent of the money received for the manufactured goods is expended in the shops. This means that more than $2,500,000 is distributed in this city annually by the clothing manufacturers. It think the present trouble has already brought a loss of $25,000 to the workmen. If the Knights of Labor declare a boycott on Rochester goods, as I have no doubt they will attempt to do throughout the country, it means a serious blow to one of the best industries of the city."

Nearly all of the clothing manufacturers will have finished work on all clothing cut by the locked-out men by the end of this week, and unless the cutters return to work or others take their places next Monday, 20,000 people will be thrown out of employment. He further said: "Our shops are open to all our former workmen who may choose to return; the places of those who prefer to pin their faith to their leaders will be filled by men from out of the city if they can be secured."

THE STORM IN KANSAS.

SNOW AND RAIN GREATLY IMPEDE

Trains Caught on the Missouri Pacific Be tween Stations Snow-Plows Ineffective -Bivers Out of Their Banks-Continu ous Rainfall for Forty-Eight Hours.

KANSAS CITT, Mo., March 26.—Advices received last night and this morning from many points throughout Kansas indicate that the most severe storm ever known there raged over the greater portion of the State traffic is at a standstill. Every available snow plow has been called into requisition anow plow has been called into requisition, but they have made little headway. Several trains have been caught between stations, among them the Missouri Pacific pay train.

The company manages to keep the passengers and train men supplied with food but if the storm should prevail much longer they will be in a serious predicament.

Reports from all directions indicate great suffering to live stock from lack of food and shelter.

ters are to the effect that all trains ar blocked west of Newton. At Garden City no mall has been received for three days, and no trains either east or west are expected to arrive before Saturday. At Council Grove it has rained continuously for forty-sight hours. The Rocsho River, which began rising Tuesday, is out of its banks in many places and is higher than it has been for many years.

On the Central Branch of the Missouri Pacific a great many poor people are reported suffering for lack of food and fuel.

DES MOINES, Io., March 26,-The Des Moine River is still very high and much damage is being done. The Belt Line bridge has been ept away and the Sixth street bridge is so badly shaken that it has been condemned.
All the extra props of the Wabash bridge have been swept out. An ice gorge has formed and threatens to carry out the entire bridge. The e has gorged up north and the wrecked ice has gorged up north and the wrecked bridge which was swept away near Boone has struck High Bridge and threatens to force it down. This is the highest and longest structure in the State, being 100 feet above the bed of the river and 2,200 feet long. It is located twenty-six miles north of here on the Des Moines & Northern Railway.

This morning H. K. Wemple of Vicksburg, Miss., arrived in this city and registered at the Southern. "The danger from the spring floods is passed," said Mr. Wemple, "but we must be on the lookout during June and July. At several points in Mississippi below Vicksburg the danger was greater than I have ever seen it before at this season of the year, not so much on account of the height of the water as because of the peculiar course the current of the river took. Crevasses were not common, and bad as they are the damage done by them is only temporary, as the land can be planted during the remaining season, and is generally improved by the overflow. But the unusual swittness and directness of the current in the lower river in at least three instances that came under my observation threatened to give rise to the much more serious disaster of a cut-off. Every landowner dreads a crevasse, but he has a perfect horror of a cut-off. A crevasse is simply a break in a levee, and when the river falls promontories. When a sudden rise and a swift current coincide with a strong wind in the proper direction, the water is liable to break through a dike, and the entire river will take up a new bed, which it will occupy permanently. This not only means the loss of the land under the water, but the destruction for all practical purposes of that lying between the old and the new bed, as it becomes practically an island, and is likely to be very swampy. Once the river leaves its bed it is practically impossible to make it return. The conditions this month were in some localities peculiarly favorable to cutoffs, and it is a wonder that none occurred."

BOONE, Io., March 26.—A heavy snow-storm is in progress here and three inches have already fallen.

HE BOUGHT A REVOLVER. How a De Kalb County Youth Fortified Himself Against Harm.

Henry Coleman is a green youth from the wilds of De Kalb County. He came to St. Louis yesterday morning, and because a Union Depot cab driver looked cross-eyed at him, Depot cab driver looked cross-eyed at him, magined that his life was in danger. Before the day was gone he had purchased a cheap revolver, which he proudly exhibited to a crowd of gamins at the depot last night. Different ways and sent him into the First District Police Court charged with carrying concealed weapons. Henry promised Judge Cady that he would dispose of the weapon and "Hissoner" let the boy off with a warning.

PARALLEL CRIMES.

The Ruttinger-Wright Mystery Compared With the Preller-Maxwell.

POINTS OF LIKENESS BETWEEN THE NEW YORK AND ST. LOUIS SENSATIONS.

The Arrest of James Gail Hamilton Allan Who Is Supposed to Be Willie Wright-Mrs. Trickey of Rochester, N. H., Tells

NEW YORK, March 26 .- If it should turn out and Inspector Byrnes believes it will, that James Gail Hamilton Allan, who was arrested ay at Old Wakefield, N. H., is Willie Wright and that he is the murderer of Carl Emanuel Ruttinger, the parallel with the Maxwell-Preller case will be very striking.

These are the stories in their main feature

The statement was printed here that Inspector Byrnes has traced Wright from New York to Portland, and that it was believed by his men that he had shipped for England from that point. The discovery of "Allan," as he calls himself, at East Wakefield will save the detectives a wast amount of useless work. letectives a vast amount of useless work. The name of the suspect is plainly an alias. He said he landed in Portland, Me., from an Allen Line steamer. Gail Hamilton is the well known pen name of James G. Blaine's sister-in-law, and Maine is proud of the fact that Blaine and Gail Hamilton are citizens of

'I told him I could take him and assigned him to share a room with a young man named James Gillelland, who is a native of England. The man said his name was Jame Gail Hamilton Alian, and that he was in this country representing the interests of his brother, who was an importer of chemicals from Germany.

"He said that this was his first visit to America, however, and that he wanted a retired place in which to learn the customs of the people. For three days he did not go out the people. For three days he did not go out of doors and was urgent to procure the Boston and New York papers.

"He acted very strangely and seemed laboring under some great excitement. We did not know what to make of him. One did not know what to make of him. One evening he sat in the parlor and my 3-year-old boy was beside him. I noticed he was tieing the boy's hands behind him with a piece of cord, and when he had done so and the little fellow was struggling, I remonstrated, and in excusing his action Allen said he was just doing it to see what the movements of the muscles were when a person thus tied was trying to free himself.

"My boarders pay me every fortnight, and when the time came around I requested some money from Allan. He appeared much embarrassed, but sat down and taking out his pocketbook produced $75 in English bank notes and a draft or letter of credit or something of that sort that, as he explained to me, he would have to get cashed. I put out my hand to look at it, thinking I would see the name written on it, but he would not allow me to touch the paper.

"My husband also spoke to him about paying, and he expressed his ready intent so to do, but explained that he did not like to cash his English money. Owing to the great each.

"That very day, however—March 18—he left the house for a walk and never returned. When we went to his room we found he had left two soiled shirts, one of which had faint left two soiled shirts, one of which had faint crimson stains on the inside and several spots that looked as if they might have been blood. He had on when he disappeared a pair of Gillelland's pants, a shirt also belonging to his room-mate, a pair of shoes which he had not worn before, rubbers and a muffler. We traced him to the Phœnix House, Milton, where he stayed from Friday until Monday, when he vacated, as he had done with us, and was last seen on the road to Farmington. He carried a beautiful gold watch and was certainly well provided with English funds." "Allan" registered at Milton as James Allan and gave as his place of residence Hamilton. When arrested at East Wakefield he was very hervous, but not inclined to talk.

GRAIN INSPECTORS IN TROUBLE.

Wholesale Discharges in Insp O'Shea's Office Inevitable. Probably by this time Chief Inspector O'Shea has come to the conclusion that the lot of a chief grain inspector is not at all times one of unadulterated bliss, at least in Missouri. Troubles instead of growing less are times one of unadulterated bliss, at least in Missouri. Troubles instead of growing less are thickening; on one side the chief inspector is bombarded with complaints and threatened with law suits, while on the other he has to face a most serious diminution in income, which will necessitate wholesale discharges. In consequence the assistant experts are pervaded with a feeling of anxiety and uncertainty and have recently adopted the habit of frequently visiting the looking-glass to ascertain whether or not their heads are still on their shoulders. The ax that is to decapitate a number of them is sharpened, and all know that the blow cannot long be delayed. It is with difficulty that the expenses of the bureau have been met heretofore, and by Aprilith fees obtained from inspections in Kansas City, Kan., will be cut off. A most important item, for the policy of the grain inspectors ever since the new regime began has been to attract hard wheat from the Kansas farms that formerly was sent to Chicago for the reason was that Missouri grading was too severe for grain of that quality. On the list of April the State Inspectors of Kansas will take charge of the grain in that State, and the Missouri experts will be obliged to confine their attention to this side of the river. The receipts from inspections in St. Louis have lately been rapidly falling off, owing to the constant complaints made by millers and exporters of the manner in which Kansas hard wheat has been graded as No. 2 red, and it was a recognition of this fact that led the St. Louis inspectors to rebel against the Kansas City grading, and to decline to inspect some of the shipments at the same grade as that at which they were placed by the Kansas City, and as No. 2 hard or No. 8 by the St. Louis inspectors to rebel against the Kansas City, and as No. 2 hard or No. 8 by the St. Louis inspectors in interest threaten to bring suit against O'Shea, and one of the largest Kañsas City shippers is now in the city in consultation with those to whom the grain was consi thickening; on one side the chief inspector considering the matter, and a decision as to where the ax will fall is expected within a short time. In all probability the inspection force at Kansas City will be on April I reduced to one man, who can easily handle all the grain received there, especially since the scheme to compel the millers to receive Kansas hard wheat as No. 2 red has been to a great extent blocked. Just how heavy the mortality in the St. Louis office will be cannot yet be ascertained, but none estimate it below 50 per cent. By the 1st of April, or shortly thereafter, half of the force will be out of employment, and this as a result of the attempt ployment, and this as a result of the attempt to favor the Kansas wheat-grower at the ex-pense of the Missouri farmer, for the peculiar inspection recently inaugurated has done more than anything else to drive grain across

FINE FITTING CLOTHES.

If You Want to Be Dressed in Style Take These Hints.

The Robinson Tailoring Co., whose hand some display of tailor goods is attracting so much attention in the Fagin Building, No. 806 Olive street, owes its immense success, not only in St. Louis, but also in Kansas City, Topeka and Wichita, Kan., where its branch houses are located, to the personal attention given the business by the manager and his assistants. Only the best cutters and fitters are employed and the most competent salesmen, men who are not only experts as regards material and who are first-class fitters, but who also know how to be polite and accommodating to strangers as well as friends. Mr. E. D. Edwards, the manager, has had twenty years' experience in the business in Syracuse, N. Y., and is a thoroughly posted, practical tailor, buyer and salesman, and his principal cutter, Mr. Chas. Fasyth, is said to have no superior as a fitter in the country. Mr. W. H. Quarles, who was with Losse of this city for ten years, is now with the Robinson Tailoring Co. and will be pleased to meet his old friends there. houses are located, to the personal attention

The Wonderful Record Made by a Railway Mail Clerk.

ROMANTIC STORY REVEALED BY A WOMAN'S PENSION CLAIM.

tatistics of Population in the Old Slav States Pensions Granted Supren Court Decisions-To Celebrate Jeffer son's Birthday-Postmasters Appointed

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 26.—There will sail for Hamburg, Germany, to morrow morning, on the steamer Russia, a young man, Charles Oler, of the railway mall service. He goes over in order to begin his duties as a postal clerk on the Augusta Victoria, and will leave Hamburg for the United States on the seture. The was a postal clerk and will leave Hamburg for the United States on the seture. duties as a postal clerk on the Angusta victoria, and will leave Hamburg for the United States on his return trip April 17. He was selected for this sea service on account of his wonderful record in postal examinations during 1890. He stands at the head of 7,000 rail way postal clerks as the most proficient in the distribution of mail matter and he carries with him a gold medal presented by the Government as a testimontal to his expertness and skill in his profession. A year ago Postmaster-General Wanamaker offered a prize of a gold medal to each of the eleven divisiens of the Railway Mail Service for the clerk who attained the highest record in examinations during 1890, and one general prize for the clerk who passed the examinations in the entire service and who knocked out all competitors, and that is where Mr. Oler gets his glory.

Mr. Oler's record is almost past human bellef and calculation. He was examined on fourteen States and handled 21,649 cards each card representing a post-office in the States belief and calculation. He was examined on fourteen States and handled 21,649 cards each card representing a post-office in the States examined, and in all the vast number made but twelve errors of distribution, or 99.49 per cent correct. He made but two errors in Nebraska, two in Indiana,, three in New York, and two in Illinois, two in Minnesota and one in South Dakota. In Ohio, 8,049 cards thrown and no errors; Iowa, 1,788, no errors; in Michigan, 1,869, no errors, and perfection was also attained in Connecticut, Massachusetts, Vermont and New Hampshire. His average speed was twenty-five cards per minute. Mr. Oler belonged to the New York and Chicago fast line and ran between Cleveland and Chicago, and entered the service in September, 1899.

His closest competitor in his division (ninth) was Walter Schutt, who threw 10,898 cards, not half as many as Oler, and whose errors were 7, which gave him 99.83 per cent correct. The average speed of Mr. Schutt was 82 cards per minute.

In examinations postal clerks are required to throw cards about the size of a postal into boxes labeled as in a mail car. The boxes are arranged by States and routes, and it requires thorough knowledge of the territory to distribute them rapidly and correctly. In addition, clerks are required to answer questions regarding the disposition of mail in case of delayed trains so that it may reach its destination in the shortest possible time. Any mistake in answering these questions is checked as an error against them and reduces their percentage.

In the general order of Supt. W. Pepper of

In the general order of Supt. W. Pepper of the Ninth Division special mention is made of nineteen other clerks, whose records warranted such distinction, but the highest number of cards thrown by any one of them was 7,217, while the next was 6,788, and from that down to 8,08, the clerk who, threw the that down to 5,108, the clerk who threw the that down to 5,105, the clerk who threw the last making $7 errors.

Before Oler entered the Railway Mail Service he worked on a farm during the summer near Richmond, Ind., and taught school during the winter. He is not yet 26 years of force. Appeals have been taken and in several instances have been sustained. The parties in interest threaten to bring suit against 0'Shea, and one of the largest Kañsas Otty shippers is now in the cliy in consultation with those to whom the grain was consigned. The effect of this state of affairs is to send the wheat across the river, where it can be handled by the inspectors appointed by the Merchants' Exchange, thus depleting the already lean coffers of the State Board of Grain Commissioners. So general is the dissatisfaction with the State inspection that a majority of the millers insist before purchasing on a guarantee that no hard wheat is to be found in the grain bought, while others confine their purchases entirely to east-side grain. The diminution of income is, therefore, so serious as to render necessary the discharge not only of a number of inspectors, but also of a large proportion of the clerical force. The State Board has for several days been considering the matter, and a decision as to where the ax will fall is expected within a short time. In all probability the single state of the service is not yet 26 years of age, he is strong physically, and modest in disposition. His eyes are blue and set far back under a protruding eyebrow. A ROMANCE OF THE WAR.

A ROMANCE OF THE WAR.

REVEALED BY THE APPLICATION OF AN ORIO WOMAN FOR A PENSION.

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 26.—A novel case is now pending before the Pension Bureau. It is the claim of a woman for a pension. She does not ask pension as the widow or dependent relative of a soldier, but demands it as her right—on the ground, in short that she herself had been a soldier and fought for her country. The disability of the claimant is a gunshot wound in the leg received in battle. The history of the case combines the romantic elements of love and heroism and it stands without a parallel in the records of the pension office. The claimant is Mrs. Mary E. Hooker, a resident of Goshen, Ind. She swears to her enlistment as a private in Company F. Twenty-sixth Ohio Infantry and furnished the depositions of twe witnesses, John J. Martin and Jones O. Hoover, in support of her statements. Mrs. Hooker is an Ohioan by birth. She was living at the commencement of the civil war in Cleveland. Her maiden name was Dewey. She had a lover, one Benjamin Brown, and their wedding-day had been fixed. At this juncture President Lincoin issued his call for volunteers. Benjamin's heart was filled with martial ardor and insensible ailige to his own safety and the protests of his sweetheart he enlisted in the Twenty-sixth Ohio Regiment, then under orders to proceed to the front. The separation was more than Mary could bear. Benjamin might be happy without her, but she could not live sway from her lover. Her decision was quickly made. It required pluck and courage but the Ohio girl possessed both. TWO CITY PLATFORMS.

The Democrate of Chicago recognize the fact that when a national party organ-ization asks to be intrusted with the con-trol of a city government it ought to take a well-defined position on city questions. They accordingly put forth a platform promising that the interest on the city's eposits shall go into the City Treasury istead of the Treasurer's pocket, and mong other distinct declarations of policy they included the following:

The Democratic party of Chicago betthat much of the service now performed great profit by private corporations should be done by the city for the benefit of the peo-ple; that the city's electric plant should be rapidly extended and used for the purpose of furnishing light to private consumers as well as the public; that the city should establish gas works for lighting and heating, and should manage and control business of a public character. It urges upon the present Legislature that power be given to the city to carry on these public works, and in the mean-time, pending such grant of power, it insists that no franchises shall be granted except upon a fall consideration to the public and upon condition that the city may revoke tion of St. Louis met when everybody was talking about the boodle fund of $210,000 that secured the passage of certain street railway franchises, but it did not dare to say a word about that scandal or a word in favor of selling such franchises openly for the benefit of the city instead of privately for the benefit of the boodlers.

In the platform on which the Mayor' Council ticket is presented to the people, there is nothing in the shape of a pledge or promise as to any question of city govproposed; nothing said as to the ways and means of promoting the public welfare or insuring a faithful efficiency in the public service. All that is left to the Mayor. He is given earte blanche to rule the city in the name of the Democratic party, with the aid of a Council nominated by himself and pledged only to "work in harmony with the Mayor." And the only intimation as to how he will do it is in the reference to improvements made by rail way and bridge corporations in the last six years, and the statement that "the Dem-'ocratic executive of the city has been foremost in stimulating these improve-"ments and cheerful in co-operating with 'those engaged in making them." The man who votes for the Mayor's ticker on the Mayor's platform is not supporting Democracy, but is helping to turn the city government over to an oligarchy of bosses and boodlers.

vity of local polities is strikingly pproaching election, April 7 three cases men have exclude them from any convention but despite all, they have been put on the regular tickets, and yoters are asked by the political bosses to support them. Other of the nominations are had but the three here referred to are worse, and for that reason are given special attention. How the politicians could have nominated such men as John Thomas Brady, George Grassmuck and Julius Lehman for seats in the Assembly is a mystery to many not entirely familiar with the ways of the disreputable in politics. They cannot understand how the politicians responsible for their selection as candidates could have been so blind to the ordinary requirements of common deceney. Brady is a Democratic saloon-keeper and is the regular nomines for the House of Delegates in the Fifteenth Ward, He has a record of a decidedly vigorous kind as the court records showed. is also a big 'factor in Fool Alley and of course is strongly backed by the pool sellers, bookmakers, and 'craps' shooters who frequent that place. Lehman, the Republican candidate in the Eighteenth Ward for the House of Delegates also expects to

In the Eighteenth ward for the House of Delegates, also expects to go back to the Assembly despite his record. The records of Brady and Lehman are given below in detail. As will be seen, both aspir-ants are decidedly well known about the when Brady was mentioned as a candidate for the House of Delegates in the Fifteenth Ward people who know him regarded his candidacy as a joke. They could scarcely believe that a person of his standing seriously contemplated running for the House of Delegates. They were indeed amazed when they discovered that he was a candidate and that he had secured the regular Democratic nomination. His oppocandidate and that he had secured the regular Democratic nomination. His opponent at the primary was William Sippy, but the latter received but little consideration from the fact that he was not the choice of Central Committeeman Paddy McNamara known also as "the Canary," McNamara wanted Brady and he got him the nomination despite the work of Sippy and his friends. This explains how John Thomas Brady got a place on the regular Democratic ticket. The Fifteenth Ward is one of the wards which Mr. C. C. Mamit, Chairman of the State Democratic Central Committee, is generally reocratic Central Committee, is generally puted to control.

JOHN THOMAS BRADT'S RECORD. John Thomas Brady, candidate on the bemocratic ticket for House of Delegates from the Fifteenth Ward, is a widely if not well-known citizen. He is the proprietor of a well-known citizen. He is the proprietor of a saloon at 1216 Pine street, and bears the reputation of being a desperate man. He is particularly aggressive when under the influence of liquor, and has attained to a more than local notoriety through the medium of his street and bar-room brawls. Actions brought against him for violations of the city oxil-nances average one per month for the past two years. He has also been officially charged with the commission of a feliony, a warrant for grand larceny having been issued against him. His court record speaks for itself:

A PRIEST'S DEPOSITION.

nteresting Testimony of Father Smith in Mrs. Elizabeth Kennedy's Divorce Suit. The deposition of Rev. Constantine P smith of the Church of the Assumption, Sidney and Ninth streets, which was taken for use in the divorce proceedings of Mrs. Elizabeth F. Kennedy against Robert S. Kennedy in New Haven, Conn., has been forwarded.

The parties to the sult formerly resided here, and Mrs. Kennedy had a pew in the Assumption Church, One of the causes of trouble between herself and husband was her sons by a former marriage. She wished to educate them at Yale, and went to New Haven that she might be near them. Her husband was left in St. Louis. The suit for divorce was a great surprise to Mr. Kennedy and he is contesting the matter. The deposition of Father Smith, who had married them, was taken for him. The cross-examination by Mrs. Kennedy's counsel, Kinealy, was tart. One small passage covers four type-written pages of the stenographer's transcript. On his examination-in-chief, Father Smith said that Mr. Kennedy was more intellectual, refined and cultured them his wife. Mr. Kinealy ways transcript. ney and Ninth streets, which was taken for nedy was more intellectual, refined and cul-tured than his wife. Mr. Kinealy wanted to know if it were proved Mr. Kennedy associ-ated with lewd women the reverend witness would hold that he was superior to a virtuous woman in intellectuality and refinement. This was fought over by counsel and the wit-

This was fought over by counsel and the witness also objected to the question. He answered at last:

"Certainly not."

"Suppose Mr. Kennedy was in the habit of 'running around with the boys,' to use a certain expression of the town, and participating in the amusements and vices of the time would he still be, in your opinion, the superior in intelligence. and refinement of Mrs. Kennedy, from what you know of her?"

"I think that a mere jumble, because between intellectuality and refinement and proper moral conduct the one cannot gainsay the other. A man may be a very intellectual man and a very immoral man; a very refined man and a very base man. They are not exclusive terms."

Mr. Kennedy told the witness of his wife's intention of taking her sons to New Haven to be educated and the priest remonstrated with her. This was gone into at great length on the cross-examination, Father Smith wanted her to send them to a Catholic institution.

"You thought that Mrs. Kinealy was doing a great wrong in refusing to send her children to a Catholic college?" the attorney asked,

"Yes,"

"Was her conduct considered by you rebellious?"

"No; 'rebellious' is too strong a word. I they would become largely exposed to the

"Yes I have several men in view whom I intend to appoint but I will not go to the extent of mentioning any names at the present time. I will say, however, that there are three appointments which I can just as well announce now as at any other time. Those are Maj. Murahy for the Street Department, Capt. Dan. Able for the Harbor and Whar! Department and Mr. Bell as City Counsellor, In regard to the first two, the general impression concerning their reappointment was correct, and in the light of past proceedings in both those cases it appears my duty to reappoint. As to City Counsellor Bell, I have decided that he is the man for the place and I might hunt a year among the best lawyers in the city and not found one better fitted for the place. In this same connection I want to nail a lie-no, I won't call it a lie, but I want to contradict a pretty widely circulated rumor or story to the effect that Mr. Bell always succeeds during the first two years of a Mayor's term in ingratiating himself with the innumbent. Such has not been the case this time. In all official business I have had with Mr. Bell I have found him a good judge of situations and he has always evinced an interest in the city's good. Socially and personally he had done nothing and is going back on his merits and on his merits alone. I know the law well enough to recognize a good lawyer when I see him."

"Will you make your appointments without considering the backing brought by any par-considering the backing brought by any particular candidate?"

"Yes, and no. I do not think it necessary to listen to a long-winded petition, signed by a thousand good people. In this city if I can't learn enough about a man without the necessity of being informed by a long petition he is not worth appointing; and another thing about these petitions—men, and I speak from experience, sign petitions and then quietly inform the one to whom the petition is addressed that they only signed it as a personal favor and to please not to pay any attention to their name. There is another thing I do not like which is being done by one, I won't tell his name. He has written to his friends in the State and they are very numerous. I am being flooded with letters from them. This man with great foresight had the impression that my political ambition was to be Governor and thought he could get me on that lay. He is very much mistaken and his move is decidedly lil-advised."

The Mayor declined to discuss the political situation or kindred subjects.

The Independents have elected their Com-mittee of One Hundred, and that committee which is representative of every condition of men in St. Louis, will manage the campaign from now until election day. BREAKING OF JUGS.

The Novel Scene Enacted at the Church of the Messiah Last Night.

Last evening at 8:20 the ladies of the Sunday school of the Church of the Messiah on Locust and Garrison avenue were very busy preparing for an entertainment and ceremony which always takes place in Holy Week. The little ones had begun to arrive up full force by this tima and soon were thrown open and several larges tables well laden exposed to view. The little ones were all accommodated with seats and the larger classes and yet there was room for many of the grown persons. The supper being over, the suppressed excitement of the children was sufficient proof of itself that the most important event of the evening had not yet commenced and pretty soon on all sides the question was heard "when are they going to break the jugs?"

This jug breaking was really the important event of the evening and to make it plain to those interested a few words of explanation in regard to the Sunday school and their work is necessary. Some time ago the children of this school determined to support a cot in each of the children's Hospital, and for this yellow the children's Hospital, and for this purpose a jug was given each class as a temporary bank, and such as a temporary bank, and such aday for a year the children have drapped their nickles, dimes and pennies in their little brown jugs. When one jug was filled waiting for the important cermony of being broken, which alsays takes place in the week before Easter Sunday. Soon the children's Hospital for a year. A young gentlemen who belongs to the Sunday-school had all the jugs upon a table and from each class a child was chosen to break the jug or jugs belonging to that class. The little fellow who broke the first jug was a member of the sunday class of the Children's Hospital for a year. A young gentlemen who belongs to the sunday-school. After that the ceremony proceeded quickly and they soon come to the last jug which was much larger and of a different shape and color from the other jugs. This was called the birthday jug and contained the contributed to that jug upon his or her

THE BAGGAGE CAR WRECKED.

'About eleven hours out of El Paso the baggage car of the Hearst train got off the track. The Grafton excursion train came in while they were trying to get the car back on the track. While sidetracked within a few feet of the other train I saw a sight that was most shameful. When it was found impossible to again get the baggage car on the track without long delay, the dignified Senators and the honored Congressmen, the highest law-makers for the American people, came out there to see that they got the wine which was theirs, and each box appeared to have a private mark. Such words, such actions! It actually made me shudder to think that those men, running around concerning such stuff (intoxicants), were delly pointed out to growing children as models to follow in this life. There were some harsh words passed by the men, which added to the disgracefulness of the affair. Assistant Sergeant at Arms Valentine, who has charge of the proceeding carefully. He dared not say anything, but I expect he thought considerable.

ANOTHER DELAY.

"As I said before this train seems to have been followed by a judgment. After the wine, consisting, I should estimate, of at least low cases, with ten barrels of empty bottles, two sacks and several boxes of the same, had been transferred to the dining and sleeping cars, everything went smoothly until Texarkana was reached. Here the Grafton excursion train again overtook the party, and here again a meet disgraceful scene was witnessed. A new baggage car was added to their train, and the porters on our train as

fore He Ascended the Scattold-History of the Brutal Crimes for Which the Men Were Executed-Their Bearing on WILKESPARER, Pa., March 26.—George Washington Moss was hanged here in the prison yard at 16:15 this morning. Moss walked to the gallows smiling with a firm and fearless pace. He said; "God does not hold me responsible for the murder of my wife, and I do not hold myself responsible." Death ensued in eleven minutes. There were spectators of the execution, and the work of the sheriff was well done.

On waking this morning from a sound sleep the doomed man wanted to know from the Warden how the weather was. He was informed that it was clear. He paced his cell unmoved by the consciousness that his time on earth was swiftly terminating. His obstinacy hid whatever remorse or emotion might have been struggling in his bosom for expression. At $.30 o'clock Moss was visited by Rev. Hayden of the Episcopal Church, and an hour of religious devotion was held in the Warden's private room in the prison. Before the condemned man left his cell

Press reporter:

I am sorry for the Sheriff, who is my friend; it must be an unpleasant job for him. I am glad the end is here. I don't think I ought to die, and if these were my last words I never knew that I had shot my wife, but I guess i did it and I would sooner die than live in prison all my life. I am thankful to my friends, the Warden and the press, who tried to save me, and as soon as the Sheriff is ready, I will show those present how a brave man can meet deash even in this horrible way. I have faced it too often on the battlefield. Do soft think I im semplaining. I am ready to die and I will meet my late without a murmur if I can possibly do so. If the Sheriff would allow me I would pull the cap over my bead myself and pull the rope, too.

MOSS CRIME.

The crime for which George W, Moss was

The crime for which George W. Moss was executed to-day was the brutal killing of his wife Rhoda on the night of the 18th of October, 1859.

Moss, who had not been seen by his family for some days, came to his home in Helfrick's court about fo'clock at night. On entering the door his daughter Anna exclaimed in a frightened manner, "Oh, there's papa." His wife at the time was placing eggs in a kettle on the stove to prepare supper for her sons who had just returned from work and were washing themselves outside. When the wife looked up she saw the muzzle of a revolver pointed at her.

"Oh, don't, Wash, don'ti" she cried, and scarcely were the words spoken when three

"Oh, don't, Wash, don't!" she cried, and scarcely were the words spoken when three shots were fired in rapid succession and she fell to the floor. The sons ran into the house at the report of the weapon, just in time to see their father point the mussle of the still smoking revolver towards himself and fire three more shots. With the weapon still in his hands he fell to the floor, but immediately got up and ran out of the house and disappeared. The wife lay dead upon the floor until the neighbors tenderly took her up and carried her into an adjoining room, laying her upon a sofa. A bullet had torn away the left eye and the ball, taking an upward course, entered the brain. A second bullet entered the forehead. The third shot did not take effect.

The entire police force was called out and with lantern in hand they scoured the vicinity in search for the murderer, but without success until after midnight when he was found in an alley by the Sergeant of the squad. When approached he said: "Is it me that you want?"
"Yes, sir," said the officer. "Well then I surrender, but I wish to God that I had killed mysel."
He was than taken to god that I had killed surrender, but I wish to God that I had killed myself."

He was then taken to prison. Dr. Stewart was called and found three bullets through his skull, although he did not probe for them until a few days after when they were removed and the prisoner recovered. Up to the time of the killing Moss and his wife had lived together twenty-three years, and for twenty years they had not seen a happy day. The deceased was 50 years old and the murderer 52. Moss came here with his wife and children from Aubura, N. Y., and for a year or more was employed at the Sheldon Axie Works. Moss was a man who drank hard and at times appeared to be crasy, his wife was of kind disposition, and whenever he quarreled with her she would never say an unkind word to him in return. The complehad six children. The murderer was an intelligent man, and one would scarcely believe he would do such a terrible and bloody work.

upon such an amiable woman as his wife. One of the presumable inspirations for the crime was the humiliation Moss feit for being sent to jail by his son Frank for drunkenness and abusing his wife. He was an exceedingly sensitive man. Though his release from prison was brought about by the woman he murdered, he believed that she was at the bottom of the scheme to jail him.

HISTORY OF STANGLIN'S CRIME.

The crime for which Oliver W. Stangley suffered the death penalty to-day was committed in Weatherly on Saturday, Oct. 12, 1889. A few minutes before 8 o'clock oa the forencon of this day Mrs. Sybila Walbort, the wife of Albert Walbort, was found dead at her home with a builet hole through her body showing that she had been foully dealt with. Walbort, his wife, five children and Stangley as a boarder, were the occupants of the Walbort, his wife, five children and Stangley as a boarder, were the occupants of the house. Walbort and her eldest son were employed in the Weatherly car shops, two sons and daughter were employed in the Weatherly silk mill, and the youngest child, a girl of about 10 years of age, named Ida, was attending school.

On the meraing of this fateful day Mrs. Walbort rose about 5 o'clock and prepared breakfast first for the two boys and girl employed in the slik mill. They were compelled to leave for their work a half hour earlier ployed in the slik mill. They were compelled to leave for their work a half hour earlier than their father and the elder brother. The two latter, after they had received their breakfast, also left for their work, leaving Mrs. Walbort, Stangley and the little girl ida as the only persons in the house. Stangley complained of being sick and gave that as a reason why he did not go to work, and the little girl was up stairs asleep in bed. She came down shortly before 8 o'clock, and not finding her mother she laquired of Stangley where she was, and Stangley further told her that her mother had said she should get her breakfast and afterwards go to a neighbor's house until her mother returned. From the neighbor's window she saw Stangley, leave the house. She then came back and on entering the parior, in which she had not been before that morning, she found her mother dead. o leave for their work a half hour earlier before that morning, she found her mother dead.

THE MURDERRE'S FINSHT.

Stangley fied to Slatington where his mother and stepfather resided and was there arrested on the same afternoon. During the evening he was committed to the Mauch Chunk jail, and on the following Monday he made a full confession of the crime acknowledging that he had done the awful deed, but claiming that she had angered him. In the details of his confession he said that he had always liked her but that she did not like him any more. He said that she was at the sink in the kitchen washing the breakfast dishes; that she was scolding him because he did not go to work that morning; that he got angry at what she said and knocked her on the floor with his fist; that he then pulled the revolver from his pocket and fired twice. The first bullet passed through his own finger but did not hit her; the second passed through the body, plerced the heart and killed her instantly. He then picked her up, carried her into the parlor and was making proparations.

He said that he sent Ida to the neighbor's house in order to give him an opportunity to get away unobserved.

Under the direction of the District Attorney Under the direction of the District Attorney the preparations for the trial went on, and at the April term of court the Grand-jury found an indictment against him for murder in the first degree. The prisoner pleaded not guilty. The court appointed Hon. F. M. Mulhearn, L. H. Barber, Esq. and Frederick Bertolette, Esq. to defend him. Every step in the trial was contested, but at the end of the trial, which lasted five days, the jury rendered a verdict of "guilty of murder in the first degree." A motion for a new trial was denied and the October term pronounced the death sentence upon him.

MORREY, Mo., March 28.—Five-year-old George Cupinall, on his way to Vandalia, Ill., passed through here resterday. His mother died at Aurora, Neb. last week, and he is now on his way by himself to above point, where he will be taken in charge by relatives.

THE PLANTERS' HOUSE. Stockholders Cannot Agree to Improve the Property and Will Sell It.

The Planters' House Association has elected new directors and officers and begun another year with the hope of determining something about the disposition to be made of the property before the year closes. J. B. C. Lucas is President, George L. Allen Vice-President, and F. G. Zelbig is Secretary. The directors are Messrs. Lucas, Allen and J. J. O'Fallon, W. C. Mamtt, I. G. W. Stedman, P. C. Momtt and W. P. H. Turner. The prospects of having the present improved by the present

W. C. Mamtt, I. G. W. Stedman, P. C. Momtt and W. P. H. Turner. The prospects of having the preperty improved by the present owners have all vanished. There is no chance for that now. A year ago some of the directors hoped that they dould get the stockholders to agree upon a plan by which the present building could be removed and a handsome structure erected, but they have given up that idea. The Planters' House property has belonged to its present owners and their ancestors for years and years. Originally a few men owned it, but as they died and their heirs inherited, married and died, the interests spread out to such an extent that it has now become a rather remarkable ownership. There are no less than thirty-five interests involved in that half block. Some of the parties live in Europe, some in the East and some in the West. It requires a three-fourths vote to determine upon anything. To secure a three-fourths vote on any question is a difficult thing when the stockholders are scattered all over the world.

PLANS PREPARED.

About a year ago two or three architects prepared plans for a new building which were submitted to the directors. Some of them favored the adoption of one and the erection of a building, but as soon as they began to canvass the stockholders to find out what chance there was to secure a favorable you they gave up the project and let if co by what cannet tare was to secure a lavorance vote they gave up the project and let it go by the board. There was only one way by which a new structure could by built and that was by issuing bonds. As soon as this idea was suggested it found opponents. If the property was further West it would be easy to gain consent to such opponents. If the property was further West it would be easy to gain consent to such a scheme, but many of the stockholders thought it would be throwing money away to build a fine hotel on the present site. Then and finally the principal stockholders determined to make no further afforts to do anything with the property except to sell it, and they have clung to that determination. They know that if they can get an offer for the property which is within a reasonable distance of the estimated value placed upon it by the stockholders they can get the stockholders cagree to settle it, but that is all they will agree to.

APPOINTED TO SELL.

They certainly will not consent to spend any more money upon it. Even offers to lease have been rejected, because they involved an expenditure in repairing the building. The association is in the unfortunate position of requiring a large vote to take final action, and those who are most interested have become satisfied that it is useless to try to get that vote. The present directors and officers, therefore, are practically a committee appointed to sell the property, and if they can do it they will, but there is no chance now of seeing the eye-sore removed until it changes hands.

East St. Louis plasterers and their employers. Several weeks ago the Plasterers' Union notified contractors that they would demand 60 cents an hour for their work. At the same time it was given out that all bosses had agreed to the advance without parley. It now appears that the contractors are not ready to meet the advance and there may be trouble between employers and employes when the spring rush of work opens. At present there is little, if any, plastering being done in the city, the weather being very unfavorable for such work.

SIR CHARLES TUPPER'S VIEWS ON THE QUESTION OF RECIPROCITY.

Some Delay in the Proposed Visit to Washington—Leading Members of the Dominion Party Divided on the Objects of the Mission-Dominion News.

OTTAWA, Ontario, March 26.—There has trip of Sir Charles Tupper and his colleagues to Washington, and it is believed that it is to the refusal of Newfoundland to jointly negotiate with Canada for reciprocity with the United States that the delay may be attributed. It is learned, however, from a re liable quarter that a meeting of the Cabine liable quarter that a meeting of the Cabinet is to be held to discuss the matter, when some definite action may be decided upon. Sir Charles' view of what reciprocity should be, and the limits to which the Dominion Government is prepared to join the negotiations, are somewhat at variance. Sir Charles' idea is more liberal in its scope and application than the view of his colleagues. Sir Charles' the recent of the present convenience while in Charles during the recent campaign while in Nova Scotia assured the electors of that prov-ince that whatever arrangement might be made for the reciprocal exchange of com-modities between Canada and the United States there would be no modification in the States there would be no modification in the duty imposed upon bituminous coal imported from the United States. It is learned that this assurance was given upon his own responsibility and that several members of the Cabinet, especially those from Ontario, are opposed to any such arrangement.

PLANTING A NEW COLONY. WINNIPEG, March 26.—The Manitoba & Northwestern and the Canadian Pacific Rall-ways have had agents down through North Dakota drumming up settlers for a new colony that is being established at the terminus of the Manitoba & Northwestern and at Edof the Manitoba & Northwestern and at Ed-mondon. The railways report that, their agents are having a hard time. At Eureka the agents were given two hours to get out of town, the citizens threatening to tar and feather them if they did not. The Canadian Pacific agent at Bottineau, just below the Manitoba boundary, was ridden on a rail by inhabitants who objected to his proselytizing

THE CHINESE QUESTION. OTTAWA, Ont., March 26.—The Dominion of Canada has taken up the Chinese exclusion business, and will now appeal to the heathen country to allow them to pass such legisla-tion that will keep the coolies out. Some-time ago the Canadian government was thinking of taking this step, but the Privy Council of London used its influence against

NEWFOUNDLANDERS EXCITED. ST. JOHN'S, Newfoundland, March 26.— Party lines have been entirely abandoned in the crisis in affairs that now seems apparent. The Legislature by an almost unanimous vote yesterday decided to send a delegation to England, two from the Legislative Coun-cil and three from the Assembly. One for each delegation will be named to-morrow and leave at their very first opportunity, ablic meetings have been held at all the enters and resolutions of denunciation assed in every instance. Testerday when he Governor visited the Chamber to give his assent to certain measures all members not in the Government refused to follow the Speaker to the Governor's presence. It looks as though it will be impossible to enforce the obnoxious resultation with

THE WRECKED BANK.

NEW YORK, March 26 .- There seems tovery little doubt that Evan G. Sherman the President of the Washington Nationa Bank, has laid himself liable to prosecution ander the national banking act for th over certification of checks, if for nothing else. The wholesale and reckless way in which this was done to accommodate John Silver, whose cash balance was $61, is one of the most remarkable disclosures in the listory of bank wrecking. John S. Silver is widently keeping out of the way. He could not be found at his office yesterday and no incormation could be obtained of his where thours. abouts. FOR THE WORLD'S FAIR.

Designs for the Woman's Building at Chi

CHICAGO, Ill., March 26 .- For the Women's World's Fair building thirteen designs by women have been submitted and the selec-tion has been narrowed down to three, all of the Italian renaissance style of architecture. They are said to be exceptionally fine. The cost of the proposed structure is fixed at $200,000. Jochi Takimine of Tokio, Japan, wishes to exhibit a Japanese tea garden at the exposition, and he comes backed with $60,000 and the banking firm of Mutsui & Co. of Tokio to carry out the project. His appli-cation for space is being considered. He asks the privilege of putting up a number of Japanese buildings, and in the main one he will have a hall with suitable seating ne will have a nail with suitable seating capacity. Here he proposes to have Japanese dancing girls and Oriental exhibitions. In a restaurant will be served pure Japanese tea, birds' nest soup and other dishes of the Empire of the Mikado. The grounds will be ornamented with Japanese plants and flowers, and in the buildings will be quaint and curi

ABOUT THE DEFICIENCY. WASHINGTON, D. C., March 25. WABHINGTON, D. C., March 25.—The Secretary of the Treasury received the following telegram from John T. Dickinson, Secretary of the World's Columbian Commission:
Do I understand from your telegram that if the commissioners meet here (Chicago) on April 1 and a deficiency is thereby created beyond the $150,000 assigned by the Treasury Department for use of commission you will allow said dediciency to be paid as far as possible out of the total amount appropriated by Congress for use of commission and Government exhibit board for current fiscal year, to wit: $200,000?

Secretary Foster telegraphed the following response:

If the total amount of your liabilities incurred and expenditure made during the current fiscal year, including the expenses of meeting of commission, exceed $1,50,000 a further apportionment not to exceed $10,000 will be made out of the current appropriation for use of commission. Justice to the Government Board of Control, however, demands that the deficiency you create shall be as small as possible.

HONDURAS AT THE SHOW. WASHINGTON, D. C., March 26 .- Capt. Gilbert P. Cotton of the United States Arm Special Commissioner to Honduras in the in terest of the World's Columbian Exposition writes that after a ride of ninety-three mile on muleback he reached Tegucigalpe, the capital, and on Feb. 23, ult., in company capital, and on Feb. 2s, ult., in company with the United States Consul was received by President Bogran, to whom he presented the invitation of President Harrison and made an address, explaining his mission. The President replied in a most encouraging manner, welcoming Capt. Cotton to the Republic and expressing the interest of the Government and people in the object of his mission. The President stated that Honduras accepted the invitation of the President of the United States to participate in the expothe United States to participate in the expo sition with the greatest pleasure, and that the Republic would be represented at Chicago by a full exhibit of its resources and pro-ducts. On the following day President Bogran appointed Dr. R. F. Fritzgartner, the Government Geologist and Inspector General of Mines and a scientist of high repu-tation, as Special Commissioner for Honduras to the Columbian Exposition and gave him instructions to report at once a plan for a building and an exhibit for Honduras and an estimate as to the amount of money necessary.

Opposition to a Manufactory-Railway Terminal and Other Purchases.

Leon L. Hull is very much opposed to the passage of an ordindnce, No. 177, introduced for the vacation of certain streets and alleys in the vicinity of Mackland avenue just south of Forest Park and about six blocks west of King's highway. The ordinance also provides for the laying of a switch from the Missouri Pacific Railway into the property intended to be reserved for private use. This railway switch leads Mr. Hull to conclude that it is intended to use the reservation for some manufacturing enterprise which will be detrimental to the park on account of its close proximity to that public pleasure ground, and that is why he is opposed to the ordinance. He says there are plenty of other equally good manufacturing sites which are purchasable in many localities where no such objections could be raised, and that therefore it is not wise for the city to approve any measure which will be in the vicinity of Mackland avenue jus city to approve any measure which will be detrimental to the comfort of people who en-Joseph A. THE CALKINS MURDER.

aging Testimony Brought Against the Defendant.

Damaging Testimony Brought Against the Defendant.

Goshen, Ind., March 26.—The evidence to be adduced at the trial of Frank Hendryx for the murder of Edward Calkins, which commenced yesterday afternoon, will be very damaging to the defendant. Mrs. Calkins, who acknowledges she was an accomplice in the commission of the crime, will be put on the stand and make a full confession, which will tell of a most diabolical conspiracy to put old man Calkins out of the was for his property and some insurance money.

In March, 1880, according to Mrs. Calkins' testimony, there was living on the same floor of a flat in Elkhart an old gentleman, aged 80, named Edward Calkins. The now Mrs. Calkins was then Mrs. Whipple, a fine looking widow of 40. She and Hendryx, being very irritmate, consulted a scheme to get Calkins to marry Mrs. Whipple, get him to insure his life and then put him out of the way. On March 25, Mrs. Whipple was made Mrs. Calkins. Just seven days afterwards Calkins was induced to take out a $5,000 policy is the company which Hendryx represented.

April 3, Mrs. Calkins and husband, accompaned by Hendryx, went out for a boat ride, in the course of which Calkins was drugged and thrown overboard. Hendryx and Mrs. Calkins returned with their clothes seaking wet, saying that the boat had been capsized and that Mr. Calkins had been days later, and the Coroner's jury returned a verdict of accidental drowning. There was some suspicion of foul play at the time. Mrs. Calkins made claim for the insurance, but was reused owing to the circumstances. She then went to Three Rivers, Mich., while Hendryx went to Chicago. The January Grand Jury returned an indictment against the couple, and they were arrested and brought back here. Hendryx stoutly denies his guilt and says it is a black-mailing scheme.

Faulty Management of the Brooklyn Hos-pital—Crises Cited.

York, March 26 .- The hospital management of Brooklyn is known to be bad, but it is only now and then that a case occurs which shows its faults. Ralph A. Blahelock of 118 Milton street, Greenpoint, is an artist who has won a well deserved reputation. He is suffering now from insomnia and acute mania. He thinks his family wants to ruin him and he sold a picture for $250 for which he had refused $2,000, then tore up the notes. His brother, Dr. Blaheloch, Scalled in a policeman last night and had him summon an ambulance. The Flatbush Insane Asylum ambulance would not respond to a call after 4 p. m., so the insane artist was driven to St. Catherine's Hospital. He was admitted and the ambulance was driving away when the policeman re-called it. The house surgeon had found the patient was insane and turned him out, saying he had no room for insane patients. The result was that the poor creature had to be taken to the police station and locked up like a criminal until he could be taken to an asylum. THE KINCAID TRIAL

Testimony Taken for the Prosecution Facts Revealed.

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 26 .- The Kincaid case was begun in the Criminal Court to-day and the testimony of several witnesses for the prosecution taken: Samuel Donelson formerly Doorkeeper of the House, was called to the stand and testified that he had taken Mr. Taulbee aside just in front of the House restaurant. While explaining to Taulbee what he wanted the witness heard some one say: "Taulbee you can see me now," and turned just in time to see Kincaid fire. The cross-examination failed to break down Mr.

"They charge," he began, "that we accept money for our votes. I do not admit that I know of any such instance. I do know this, that when I went into the House I was honest in every vote, frank in my expressions. I found that whenever a bill was introduced, a bill of any importance, some one who was prominent in municipal legislation would ask me what I thought of it. I honestly told them either that I thought the bill was a good one and I would vote for it, or that it was bad and I would oppose it. In my innocence I continued for a long time to give the snap away until I found that these men, learning how I intended to vote, would go to the men interested in the bill and tell them that for so much they could control my vote. I was indignant when first. I learned it and inclined to complain, but at the first remonstrance I learned that these men had already given me a reputation for selling my vote and a kick would be charged against me as an attempt to extort more than I received. There were franchise buyers who were prepared to swear that they had paid so-and-so so much for me and my influence. What could I do? Simply swear that I had not received the money. One kicker against the gang would have lost. I had two paths before me from which to choose: to continue to gain the reputation without receiving the money, or to take the money and make those men stop using my name, for when money is actually paid no names are used. Does not common sense suggest the wiser course? I, of course, will not say what I did. You could not believe that I would accept a bribe. I had a number of transactions in which I cleared money. For instance: I got a tip to buy a certain piece of ground in St. Louis. I had no money, but I did not find the agent hard to deal with and I obtained possession of the property. Within a very short time I sold it to a certain street car line as a site for an electrical power-house for an advance of $4,800. I was given an opo

THEY FOOLED SMITH.

PUT-UP JOB ON A ST. LOUIS REPRE SENTATIVE.

Bogus Telegram Creates Merriment Among Members of the Mis tion Bill Said to Be in Jeopardy.

Since the adjournment of the General Assembly a number of the Representatives have been giving wide circulation to what they term a "good story on Representative Smith of St. Louis." Smith is one of the four members from the Fourth District, which is composed of the Northern wards. He is a low-sized stoutly-built man, and achieved some distinction at the State Capi tol by his advocacy of a bill to limit the the city. At the times those bills were passed there was a popular outery against overhead wires. The people were opposed to them. They wanted to stop them at Jefferson avenue on the west, Cass avenue on the north and Chouteau avenue on the south. If the Assembly had been one which heeded alone the wishes of the people there would have been no over-head wires, no rapid transit down town, but — was the champion of the bills, he was the one who fought the battle in the Council of rapid transit against the wishes of the people and the money which was given him for his services, which you call a bribe, was the thing that gave him nerve enough to opcharges of physicians to $1 per visit.

The story told on Smith, which The story told on Smith, which is vouched for by no less than a half dozen members of the Assembly goes to show that the Fourth District member does not always look twice before he leaps. It is to this effect: While the bill providing for beef inspection was pending in the Assembly, several of the members got together and concluded to put up a job on Representative Smith. They ascertained that a man they could use to carry out their little game was going to Chicago, and they gave him an important part in the conspiracy. He agreed on his arrival at Chicago to send a telegram to Smith. He kept his promise, and in the course of a short time Smith received a telegram dated at Chicago, which read as follows: Come to Chicago at once. Want to see you on im-ortant business.

for his services, which you call a bribe, was the thing that gave him nerve enough to oppose the people who elected them and give them what was best for them, though they did not know it. Now they have rapid transit down town and they are all pleased. And so it is evident that the boodling which is now the cause of complaint is, in fact, the cause of one of the most progressive steps that St. Louis has taken."

The bold incenuity of this idea is marvel. portant business. PHIL ARMOUR.

As the story goes, Smith packed up his grip the same day and made a flying trip to Chicago, only to make the discovery that the great provision dealer and packer did not know him and that he had been sadly duped. Smith from all accounts came back to Jefferson City in a very indignant mood and theatened to get even with the men who put upthe job on him. The bold ingenuity of this idea is marvel-ously superb, and it suggests but one cause for regret; that Congress has never passed a copyright law which includes ideas. If this bright genius could have his idea copyrighted the might forever rettre from the House of Delegates and live in the lap of luxury, with an income which would excite the envy of the men who put upthe job on him.

Mr. Smith I was seen to-day and questioned about the story circulated concerning him. He replied that it was greatly exaggerated. "I did receive a telegram in the House at Jefferson City from some person representing himself as an attache of the Armour Co., but I did not go to Chicago. I did not know. what the telegram meant, and sent a dispatch to Chicago for an explanation, but I got no reply and then found out that some frolic-some person was trying to have some fun at my expense. I can prove by the House journal that was in the house next day and I can also establish the fact that I voted for the inspection bill instead of with the opposition."

The Police Recreation Bill.

Stembers of the Legislature returning from the ferson City say there is reason to believe at the Governor will veto the bill giving embers of the police force sixteen recreation days every year. The bill as introduced early in the session both branches of the Assembly. It is the couse, and Espenschied of St. Louis in the couse, and Espenschied of St. Louis in the couse, and Espenschied of St. Louis in the was amended in such shape as to allow six-teen days in each year, and in this shape it passed both branches of the Assembly. It was one of the last bills that went to Gov. Francis and is now on his desk. The fact that the measure was opposed by the St. Louis Police Board has strengthened the impression that it will not become a law. The board argues that it will greatly interterfere with the plan it eventually hopes to carry out to have three platoons instead of vor the bill and are very anxious to see it signed. They insist that they ought to have some time for recreation, and that they should have some understanding as to what days they can call their own.

Representative Parker said to day that the Representative Parker said to-day that the St. Louis force had asked the passage of the bill and that he had voted for it for that reason. "Their families," he continued, "also favored it, so that they would know what days in the year the heads of their households would be off duty. As it is now the police get eight days off at some time in the year, and from that I have hear informed this plan force not force not en Miller Returns and Explains His Election as President of the Union.

State Senator Owen Miller, the orchestra leader and well-known musician, returned from Milwaukee yesterday covered with new of the country under his adminstration, for the next yeer. Mr. Miller left the Senate last week at the busiest time this session, explaining to the members that he made his living by his talent as a musician, and felt it his duty to attend the Musicians' Convention in perference to serving in the pal. Mr. Miller was asked to explain the division this morning, and said:

"There were two factions, but the convention was one of the most harmonious meeting it was not of the most harmonious meeting it was not put can be briefly told. A resolution was offered to affiliate with the X Astional Federation of Labor and a long debate followed. The President ruled the resolution to be out of order as a rule exists in the league forbidding an affiliate we had would have to be repealed before the resolution favoring an affiliation could be adopted. The Eastern musicians and a rule exists in the league forbidding an affiliation with any other organization. This rule we had would have to be repealed before the resolution favoring an affiliation could be adopted. The Eastern musicians make a different view and look upon a muscian as a laborer, but of a high class. The West wants to join the Federation of Labor for it is believed the League would be strengthened by the association. This was one cause of the division and the other was that the East heretofore always held the important offices and threw a few crumbs, such as the third vice-presidency, to the West. When it came to a vote I received 45 and my opponent 45. As to the Federation of Labor, we will try to join it but will not remain in it a minute should it go to extremes. We have reached a very important period for the musicians in this country and intend to make something out of it of benefit to us. The Secretary of the Treasury say we are artists not tradesmen, but our instruments under the McKniley bill are taxed as tradesmen's tools and taxed heavily. We claim that a mason who builds a stone wall perfectly is an artist. What is the difference, then, between a mason and the musician who plays his part well? He sits for hours in an orchestra or walks in the street. Is not that hard work? Is he not laboring? The qualifications necessary to become a good musician are more than those in stone, the lawyer can re-write his brief or the editor rewrite his thoughts, but the musician's work once done can never be recalled. All his faculties are at work and he turns out the best work he is capable of doing. That is labor. It is artistic hard work. Yet the musician has no protection. The contract or alien labor law passed by Congress forbids the importation of any class of isborers who will compete with home labor, but yet Mexican bands, Austrian bands and Hungarian bands go about the country playing with impunity.

of the contract labor out, what he meant in his bill as to admitting artists into this coun-try, and he said it was intended that only such artists as Patti, Ole Bull, Campanini and others. He said it was not intended that whole bands of musicians under an artist should be admitted to this country, but only soloists such as this country seldom hears."

STEST OF THE WILL OF MRS. MYRA CLARK GAINES.

stimony at the Examination Now Going On in New York—Mrs. Letitia Brad-ley's Evidence—Is the Document a Forged One?—An Excited Witness.

Ew York, March 26.—Mrs. Letitia Bradley s a witness in the Myra Clark Gaines will contest in this city, yesterday. She spoke with a French accent and a girlish vivacity. She was one of the witnesses called to prove that the will made by Mrs. Gaines a few days before she died in New Orleans in January, 1885, in favor of the grandchildren, was the genuine will, and that the will presented for a forgery. Mrs. Evans says she received the will from Mrs. Bradley's hands, Mrs. Brad-ley denied that she ever knew Mrs. Marie P. new hey that hame. She emphatically de-nied that Mrs. Gaines gave Mrs. Evans the holographe will a few hours before her death or at any other time. Then she described the experience she had with Mrs. Evans' husband. She met a man on the street in New Orleans about two years ago, she said, who introduced himself as Walter

Evans' husband. She met a man on the street in New Orleans about two years ago, she said, who introduced himself as Walter Weldridge. He invited her to go to the lake with him and she consented. He took her to the lake and they had their pictures taken together on a tin type. He gave her a copy as a souvenir and told her he wanted to pay his addresses to her. She gave him her address in order that they might correspond. After he went away she never saw him again until she met him in court and learned that he was not Waiter Welbridge, but William R. Evans. The tin type was produced and Mrs. Bradley was asked if she recognized it. "Yes," she said, with emphasis, tapping the picture with her finger. "That's me, and that is the scoundrel."

A RECANTATION.

One of the lawyers produced the following document which purports to be a recantation of evidence given by Mrs. Bradley when the will contest was investigated in New Orleans: New Oblitans, June 14, 1889.—As I am anxious and desirous of making restitution to Mrs. Marie F. Evans I make the following statement of my own free will! On Thursday morning, Jan. 8, 1885, the day before Mrs. Myrs Chark Gaines died, as she was teaching much better, the ladies and every boot results for a little went to Mrs. Gaines' room and found her aione. Florentine remained a short while and after she had gone and while we were still alone Mrs. Gaines took of ther will, which was already written and signed. She then put on the date and she handed it to me and said: "Lettia, if you should ever Isse Mrs. Evans again hand her this for me. The next evening Mrs. 9 as shout 5 o'clock, I was expecting my husband and had gone out on the gallery to see if he was coming, when I saw Mrs. Evans walking up, and as I had seen her as the hone exribet in the day. The corton parasol.

The cross-examination by Lawyer Griffin was long and severe. She testified that upon her first visit with Weldridge to the lake, he gave her a parasol. "What has become of the parasol?" asked Mr. Griffin. "I have it, I have it, "she repeated over and over again.

"It is not much of a parasol," she said deprecatingly wrapped in brown paper and secured by many yards of string. "Shall I open it? All right; it will make you laugh to see how I was duped by him."

The court officer's pen knife was used in cutting the umbrella from its envelope and Mrs. Bradley opened it. There was a laugh, for while the iron frame remained, only two or three remnants of the cotton covering survived. A CLUB-TO-BE ORGANISED TO ELEVATE BILLIARDS.

Bob Fitssimmons' Good Fortune in Amer-ios—A Turi Writer Who Does Not Like the Bálmont Crack, Potomac—Sporting News of All Einds.

New York, March 26.—There is a project on foot in this town to establish over the gentle-men's game of billiards the same benificent men's game of billiards the same benificent sort of protectorate that the Paris Jockey Club exercises over all sorts of sports in that gay capital. A number of well known and wealthy patrons of the game are agitating with enthusiasm the necessity of founding a billiard club, the mission of which shall be to advance billiard interests all over the country and offer a guarantee that public matches, professional or amateur, held after its establishment shall be sportsmanific events, removed entirely from all suspicion of contact with the gambling interests and placed solely upon their merits.

The project of establishing such an organi-

The project of establishing such an organi-cation has been under consideration for over year and has obtained the indorsement of some of the most prominent New Yorkers in-terested in billiards. It has now reached a point where it has been decided to call a meeting for organization and within a short period a call will be issued for a gathering that will place the organization upon a sound basis and in full working order. It is no no secret that the hitch over the Slossonno secret that the hitch over the Slosson-schaeffer match has had a great deal to do with hurrying the organizers of the proposed club into taking such action. To prevent just such misunderstandings is one of the prime objects of the proposed organization. The general plan is to establish a sort of official supervision of the game of billiards that will carry with it the Paris Jockey Club guaran-tee that anything the club indorses, or any one who belongs to it, shall be accredited as legitimate. The projectors of the new club propose that the club will set its face against those players who lend themselves to ques-tionable actions. Another thing is to insure the piedge of an annual tournament in New the pledge of an annual tournament in New York and Chicago, in which the leading play-ers shall compete for an emblem, and in which all games will be perfectly straight. which all games will be perfectly straight. The new club, its projectors claim, can easily secure a membership of 1,000, representing the professional and amateur players of the country. Those players whom the club refuses to admit for just reason will be deprived of their ability to swindle any but the greenborns and the hopelessly foolish patrons of billight froms.

The turf writer of the Philadelphia Times is not an ardent admirer of the colt Potomac. This is what he says of him: "The crack 2-year-old of last season, Potomac, bought by 'Mike' Dwyer at the Belmont sale, is, after 'Mike' Dwyer at the Belmont sale, is, after all, perhaps, considered by most people the shining light of the stable. In this view I cannot say that I concur, and I may at once confess that this overgrown son of St. Blaise is no favorite of mine. As I said a month or so ago in writing of the Brooklyn handicap, Bolero, now in Philip Dwyer's string, impressed me last season as far more likely to train on than did Potomac. At that time I had not seen either of the colts this year, but on visiting Gravesend last week I found the youngsters had each developed just about as I thought they would. While Potomac has grown up Bolero has grown down. Everyone who has had any experience with young thoroughbred stock will readily understand the meaning I desire rill readily understand the meaning I desire to convey. Potomac looks like passing under the standard at pretty nearly seventeen hands, while Rayon d'07's son lacks this gigantic stature by a couple of inches or more should say. Potomac was a big 2-year-id, and it is a pretty safe axiom to go on all round till he is likely to strip this season a veritable model of a race horse. I have always held that while the St. Blaises have developed early and shown smart, albeit precoclous, form as two year olds, that they are and will be far behind the Rayon d'Ors when tested for stamina at three years and when tested for stamina at three years and upwards. St. Blaise was a brute of a race

Baron de Bisi, who has just been appointed the official handicapper, has supplied Le Sport with some interesting information as to the progress of racing in the Argentine Republic, where, according to the figures which he quotes, the total value of the prizes run for last year was rather over £300,000 as against £2,260,000 in the United States, £2,260,000 in England, £1,160,000 in France, and only £450,000 in Germany, though it must be borne in mind that the depreciation of the currency in the Argentine Republic is so great just now that the total of £800,000 must be cut down at least one-half to put the comparison with other countries on all fours. Yet, even if this be done, the result achieved is very remarkable, and there are only about four hundred horses in training to run for all this money. BACING IN THE ARGENTINE.

four hundred horses in training to run for all this money.

The Hippodromo Argentino is the principal course, and there were twenty-nine days' racing there last year, the added money amounting to £88,888, while the 10 per cent on the operations of the pari-mutuel brought in £73,000. The Hippodromo Nacional had twenty days' racing last year, the added money being about £59,000, and the 10 per cent on the pari-mutuel bringing in £83,000 while there were ten days' racing, with £18,000 added, at three other courses in the prevince of Buenos Ayres. There are occasional races in March and upon every Sunday in July and August, when the weather is colder than at any other period of the year, but the racing is suspended in December and January, on account of the heat, all the most important prises being run for in September and October.

HORSE TALK.

There are already 280 horses in training at the track of the Mamphis Jockey Cub at Montgomery Park for the meeting which opens in three weeks.

The pool rooms in Covington, Ey., will be allowed to run, the cases tried before migistrates resulting in their favor.

Rain postponed the races at New Orieans yesterday.

Henry Tyler, Dan Honig's 2-year-old, who off, was entered to be sold for $800, and after the race was bought in for $850 by Downing. Honig, who recently paid Simmson $1,500 for the colt, was not present when he was sold, but when he was told that Downing had bought him in for $850, he was furious. The good Daniel does not seem to relish the medi-cine he is so fond of administering to others.

taken by Harvard. The orange and black has a great team, and the players are in excellent condition, and are hard as rocks and in unusually good condition for early spring games. T. J. Keefe, the professional pitcher, has been coaching the team, and says that the nine was never in better shape than at present. Keefe is unusually enthusiastic over the chances of Young, the pitcher, and Brokaw, the catcher. He thinks that this patr will about distance any other amateur battery. The Yale team has also been hard at work, and will begin to play regular games with professional teams the latter part of the week. The college teams have cancelled all the games arranged to be played with American Association clubs, as they did last year with Brotherhood clubs. Some of the college games will be played at the Polo Grounds this year, and will attract tremendous crowds. One or two of these games will pay the season's expenses of the college clubs.

BASE BALL BRIEFS.

BASE BALL BRIEFS. The Pittsburg National League team and Pitcher James Galvin have at last agreed to terms and he has been signed.

Jerry Healy of last season's Pittsburg National League Club has signed with the Cincinnati Association team.

Billy Sunday says he has not retired from base ball, but thinks he has been badly trated by the Philadelphia National League team and declares he will never play with them again.

day until April 4, will hold that player in St. Louis until that date.

And now comes the news from Chicago that the most honorable Albert G. Spalding, President of the Chicago National League Club and principal owner of the Pittsburg and New York teams, is to retire from the active management of the Chicago Club, leaving James A. Hart in charge of the business and Adrian C, Anson in control of the playing department. This news is too good to be true. Spalding says it is so, but Hart will undoubtedly be a mere figure-head and Spalding will continue to be the real power and director of the organization. He is merely giving out his retirement story so that the National League can compromise with the Association without it being said that A. G. Spalding weakened, or in any way sacrificed his dignity.

Owing to rain the game of base ball which was to have been played at Sportsman's Park yesterday, between the Browns and Hudsons, did not place. The season will be opened Saturday with a contest between the Browns and the Washington University team.

Goddard since meeting Jackson and Choynski has caused many of the Australians to believe that he would whip Slavin, but the level-headed sports think he has no license to meet the letter. neet the latter. Says a well-known Sydney writer upon this subject:

when tested for stamina at three years and upwards. St. Blaise was a brute of a race horse, with a heart no bigger than a clam shell, while Count La Grange always held that Rayon d'Or was one of the gamest horses and soundest stayers he ever owned. And the owner and breeder of Gladiateur was no mean judge of a race horse, "

Unlike Sullivan and the other big fighters who have covered themselves with glory, Goddard is not going to rest on his laurels. He has agreed to give Choynski another chance, if he wants it, and has also declared chance, if he wants it, and has also declared himself ready to meet any one else who considers himself a better man.

Goddard has had a very short experience in the ring. Two years ago he was a quarryman. He quarreled frequently with his fellow workmen, and then began to fight regularly. To day he is considered the next best man to Slavin.

LUCKY BOB PITZSIMMONS. Bob Fitzsimmons is one of the most fortu-nate of puglists. Less than a year ago he worked his way to this country, landing in nate of puglists. Less than a year ago he worked his way to this country, landing in San Francisco with scarcely money enough in his pocket to pay a week's board. Under ordinary circumstances it might have been months before he would have been able to get a match there. At the time Reddy Gallagher and Billy McCarthy were matched to box at the next monthly exhibition of the California Athletic Club. Gallagher was taken sick and was unable to fight. Fitzsimmons stepped forward and offered to take his place. He was tested with the club's trial man and then his offer was accepted. He defeated McCarthy with ease, winning by so doing more money than he had ever earned in all his life. Then he went to New Orleans and picked up another fat purse by defeating arthur Upham. Then came his fight with and his victory over Jack Dempsey, which not only made him richer in money than he had ever expected to be in his wildest dreams of prosperity, but made him also the world's champion of his class. He is now engaged in a sparring tour which will net him at least $7,000 more before the June birds sing. I saw him in Madison Square Garden in full dress evening suit, nobby light overcoat and the latest style of silk tile, and as he gave the word "go" to the pedestrians of this most ill-starred of six-day go-as-you-please contests I could not help contrasting his appearance with that of a year ago. He got a fine gold watch for his services on this occasion, and his comment on it was a very significant one. He said: "That's the easiest earned watch I ever saw. I knocked out five men in one night for a prize of a watch which Jem Mace offered in Australia. Instead of giving me a watch I only got his phowtograw!"

BSERVATION PARTIES POPULAR DURING THE LENTEN SEASON.

Away Time—Some of the Principal Events—Arrivals and Departures.

"Observation" parties being eminently mild and proper, and destitute of all wildly exhilirating features, have proved quite popular and pleasing during the Lenten season just closing. As this is a comparatively new form of entertainment, with which but few persons are familiar, some explanation of the manner of conducting such an affair will prove interesting. The point of the entertainment is to discover by practical tests the comparative accuracy of the five senses, as displayed by the assembled guests, prizes being awarded to those exhibiting the keenest command of any or all of the senses. Any number may participate, and a variety of objects should be provided with which to make the tests, which begin with sight and progress until all five of the senses have been called into active play. Upon a table set in a room adjoining the salon, and shut off by sliding doors or draperies, should be placed as large a variety of articles as possible, of all sizes and shapes and values, ranging from a bird cage to a pin or a shoestring. Each guest, or groups of two or three, may be taken into this room in turn and allowed two minutes for observation. Withdrawing from the room each person is furnished with paper and a pencil and given unlimited time, while the others are making observations, to jot down everything that they can recall as having seen upon the table. The person making the longest list is awarded the prize for sight. Next comes the sense of touch. A different assortment of articles is arranged upon the table and the guests, with bandaged eyes, are taken into the room and must determine by the contact of the fingers the nature and names of the articles displayed. Allst is again made and the prize given for the most successful contestant. Then the olifactories are called into play and the guests are required to tell by the sense of smell, the nature of the articles offered. This is more difficult than one would at first suppose. Any one might tel allowed, or a taste of the fruit, or any solid food offered. In the same way hearing is tested by a variety of sounds. Besides, the prizes given for each individual test, one is given to the person possessed of the keenest powers of observation. One of the most interesting "observation" parties of the season was given recently by Miss Margaret Blodgett, at which Miss Hebe Wise was awarded the first prize and Miss Reba Cole the second.

Miss Julia Armstrong gave an observation party a few evenings since at her suburban home, at which the first prize was awarded to Miss Louie Armstrong and the second to Drawing pigs while blind-folded, is another fruitful source of amusement that has served to while away the Lenten evenings. Quite a number of young ladies have small autograph albums filled with these works of art contributed in moments of blind folly by her friends. One of the most remarkable features of these collections is that the very worst pigs have been drawn by the best artists. There are so few lines in the drawing of a pig that it would seem a comparatively easy task to draw one blindfolded. Just how difficult it is, no one realizes until they undertake to place the blindfolded. Just how difficult it is, no one realizes until they undertake to place the caudal appendages in the proper place. Underneath each drawing is written the name of the artist, which makes of the little volume an interesting little volume of souveneirs. One young lady has a volume of pigs drawn by distinguished people, both in this country and abroad.

Something akin to these mild divertisements are the palette parties when each person is furnished with a bit of drawing paper and pencils and required to draw some simple object, the study unknown to every one except the hostess. After the pictures are all finished they are set upon an easel and criticised and guesses taken as to what each picture is supposed to represent. Prizes are awarded for the best productions and the hostess retains the sketches as souvenirs of the happy evening. Mrs. Frank Nichols, then Miss Dora Harrison, gave the first palette party ever given in the city. It was quite a large and elegant affair and the sketches, some of which are quite valuable, being the work of artists of note, have been prettily bound by the hostess of the occasion. being the work of artists of note, have been prettily bound by the hostess of the occasion.

THREE CONCERTS

To Be Given on the Same Evening by S

The German societies of St. Louis have arranged a great festival for the benefit of the Verein Deutscher Journalisten and Schriftsteller von St. Louis, to be given on Monday, April 5, in three halls in the northern, southern and central parts of the city—Social Turner Hail, on Thirteenth and Monroe streets, Central Turner Hail, on Tenth and Market streets, and Concordia Turner Hail, Thirteenth and Arsenal streets. The programme for each hall will be an Artists' Concert, to be followed by a bail. In the central district the following will participate: Mr. Bernard Dierkes, tenor solo, with cello accompaniment of Mr. P. G. Anton, Jr.; Lulu Kunkel (the 13-year-old virtuoso), violin solo; Marcus and Abe Epstein, piano duet; Guido Parisi, violin solo; Mrs. Steinmeler-Rockel, soprano solo; Otto Hein, tenor solo. The musical, directors for the two mass choruses of the singing societies of this district are Prof. Egmont Froehlich and Prof. Wilhelm Lange. Besides this the "St. Louis Damenchor" and the "Damenchor des St. Louis Turnvereins' will sing under the direction of Prof. F. W. Norsch. There will be a chorus for female voices, and the turners of "St.,Louis," "West St. Louis" and "Swiss" turner societies will give an exhibition.

In the Southern district there will be among the artists participating: Mr. Louis Retter, plano solo; Olga Vollrath, song; Messrs, George Hecrich and Victor Ehling, violin and plano; Mrs. Dr. John C. Lebrecht, alto; Miss Therese Albert and Mr. P. G. Anton, Jr., plano and cello; Mr. Joseph Saler, baritone solo. The Concordia, South St. Louis and Germania Turners will give an athletic exhibition, and the singing societies will sing a mass; chorus under direction of Prof. Carl Richter. A children's concert, executed by twenty pupils of Prof. L. Retter, will be also one of the attractions of the evening.

In the Northern District will appear among the executing artists Mr. Victor Lichtenstein, violin solo; Mr. Free Kooh, baritone solo; Mr. Carl Schillinger; the pupils of the musical class of the ranged a great festival for the benefit of the Verein Deutscher Journalisten and Schrift joy Life All the While.

"To grow old gracefully," says the well-known Dr. Gardner, "is not the common lot of all. With advancing years come increased infirmities, but they are by no means unavoidable and their presence is due to failure to keep up to their work the various organs of the body. The study of the body by scientists furnishes unquestionable evidence that the duration of human fife may be prolonged to 100 years."

So cays Dr. Gardner and yet what more common than to see a prouinturely aged, withered and broken down man, or a pale, weak and omaciated old lady. The spirit is broken; all interest is gone from life and they look forward only to death. The studiest thing of all is that this premature age and preaking down is needless. It can easily be avoided by a little care and assisting nature just a little, and it is upon this point that Dr. Gardner again speaks most clearly.

He says: "Science, common sense and all experience testify to the benefits to be derived from the use of aircobolic stimulants." It should be remembered, however, that they must be pure, and that of all stimulants, whiskey is preferable. The world whiskey is derived from an ancient word meaning "water of life," and it is a most appropriate name, although they is so much that is unworthy in the market. The highest authorities—doctors, chomists and scientists—agree, however, that Whiskey is preferables. cannot harm even a child. Its effect is to build up the system, renew the life and replace the weak-bess and weariness by healthy vigor.
